MAY ACCEPT 5 WORLD COURT RESERVATIONS

DELEGATES TO CONFERENCE ARE HOPEFUL

JURISTS REPRESENTING 38 OF
SIGNATORIES OF COURT PRO-TOCOL CONFERRED

BODY ADJOURNED LAST NIGHT
UNTIL AFTER MEETING OF LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

By HENRY WOOD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Geneva, Sept. 4. — The United States senate's five world court reservations eventually will be accepted, it is believed by delegates to the conference, which has been considering them here.

The jurists, representing 38 of the 48 signatories of the court protocol, have ended their discussions of the reservations after accepting, on first reading, the first four and the first half of the fifth. The body adjourned late last night until after the meeting of the League of Nations assembly.

Ultimate entrance of the United States into the court, therefore, hinges upon action of the last half of the fifth reservation.

Conference President Van Eysinga of Holland said the conference has been unanimous in believing that the fifth reservation merely was intended to obtain equality for the United States with nations which are members of the League of Nations, but that the reservations' drafting permitted a wider interpretation which might have grave influences upon the constitutional rights of both the league and the court.

A committee will seek means of accepting the last half of the fifth reservation.

RECOMMEND GERMANY'S ADMISSION TO LEAGUE

Geneva, Sept. 4. — The League of Nations council in secret session today decided unanimously to recommend to the assembly the creation of a single permanent seat on the council for Germany, thus overcoming what was presumably the last obstacle to Germany's admission to the league.

The council also decided to recommend the creation of three new non-permanent seats.

The resolution regarding the increase in the number of non-permanent seats is understood to give full satisfaction to Poland, as it is likely that she will obtain one of the three available seats. It is understood that China also will be seated.

HOLLYWOOD ENDS PLANS FOR BURIAL OF VALENTINO

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Hollywood completed its plans today for the burial of Rudolph Valentino. Simple but impressive rites will mark the last ceremonies for the dead screen lover. The body, due to arrive here late Monday, will be laid to final rest in Hollywood cemetery Tuesday along with other immortal figures in movie land. Final services will be held Tuesday morning in the Church of the Good Shepherd in Beverly Hills.

Active pallbearers will be Charles Chaplin, Norman Kerry, Emmett Flynn, George Fitzmaurice, Douglas Gerard and John Considine, Jr. Ushers during the funeral services will be Montague Love, Antonio Moreno, John Gilbert, Morill Charillo, George O'Brien and Malcolm MacGregor.

The funeral will be restricted to 600 ticketholders, friends and professional associates of the star.

WOMAN CHARGED WITH SHOOTING AND CAR THEFT

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Mrs. Esther Newburger of St. Paul, charged with shooting with intent to kill and with theft of an automobile, and her companion, Raymond Brody, also of St. Paul, and charged with automobile stealing, demanded a preliminary hearing today when they were arraigned here.

The request was granted and Tuesday, September 7, was fixed as the date for the hearing. Bond was set at $5,000 each and failing to provide it, the two were remanded to jail.

Mrs. Newburger and Brody were captured at Sibley, Ia., after having been sought over four states for stealing one automobile and trying to steal a second here. Mrs. Newburger is alleged to have fired shots at an automobile owner who caught her in his car.

BULL GORES AND KILLS FARMER AT ROCKFORD, MINN.

Rockford, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — An angry bull which attacked him in a pasture gored Gustav Selief on his farm east of here, causing injuries from which he died. The widow and six children survive him.

CELL HOUSE OF PRISON BURNED AT WALLA WALLA

FIRE OF INCENDIARY ORIGIN IS NOW BEING INVESTI-
GATED

THIRD MYSTERIOUS FIRE AT WASHINGTON STATE PRISON
IN THREE WEEKS

Walla Walla, Wash., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Investigations were under way today into the fire of incendiary origin, which burned the cell house of the Washington state prison last night. It was the third mysterious fire started at the prison in the last three weeks.

The flames started in one end of the cell house and a high wind soon fanned the flames to all other sections. Five cell sections were destroyed before the flames could be controlled.

In the cell house there were 962 convicts and all guards of the prison were called out to lead the convicts to safety and also to prevent their escape.

Last night the convicts were forced to sleep in the prison yard, many having no bed clothing upon which to sleep, and a triple guard line was kept about the prison. All of the lights of the buildings were out, the power plant having been damaged by the fire.

Walla Walla, Wash., Sept. 4. — Two new fires broke out during the night at the state prison, authorities announced today.

The flames are believed to have been set by the convicts now being guarded by state militia, prison employees and sheriff's deputies, marshalled from all over eastern Washington.

The new fires were discovered in the plate mill where automobile license plates are manufactured. They were extinguished with nominal loss.

N. D. COUNTRY BANK ROBBED

2 BANDITS ALSO STEAL DIAMOND
RING OF VILLAGER AT FOXHOLM, N. D.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 4. — (UP) — The Foxholm State Bank near here was robbed early today by two men who tied Mr. and Mrs. P. O. O'Leary up in their residence adjoining the institution and escaped with 2,383 and a diamond ring.

The ring belonged to Mrs. O'Leary whose husband is cashier of the bank, and was valued at $600. In addition, the bandits took a revolver, a watch and a shotgun.

The bandits were courteous, congratulated Mr. and Mrs. O'Leary on their thirtieth wedding anniversary which fell on Thursday and returned to the cashier $2 of the $4.50 they found in his pocket.

FRED HOYT NAMED WINNER IN THE SESQUI AIR RACE

Philadelphia, Sept. 4. — (UP) — Fred Hoyt, Eureka, Calif., aviator, today was adjudged the winner of the "On to the Sesqui" race, having flown the 2,566 miles in 21 hours' flying time.

The announcement was made as the pick of American aviators prepared for the national air races at Model Fields flying farms. He left Eureka August 25 and landed here September 1 at 6 a. m. The elapsed time was 146 hours. He had to make one forced landing in Ohio due to a fog but his machine was not damaged.

"World's Greatest State Fair" Opened Its Gates Today, Crowds Swarm to Show

$20,000,000 AGRICULTURAL EXHIBIT SHOWN

LIGHT RAIN DID NOT HAMPER
EXHIBITIONS NOR HALT
THE RACES

FAIR BOARD'S PROMISE OF BIG-GER AND BETTER FAIR
FULFILLED

St. Paul, Sept. 4. — (UP) — The Minnesota State Fair, "world's greatest state fair," threw open the gates of a $20,000,000 agricultural exhibit today.

A light, drizzling rain fell on the crowds of people who were first to enter the ground early in the morning. The rain, however, was not sufficient to hamper exhibitions nor will it halt the automobile races on the afternoon program, unless the track becomes dangerous.

The fair board's promise of a bigger and better fair this year has been more than fulfilled. Purebred livestock, poultry, produce, dairy products and county exhibits showed increases and additions.

The 87 counties of the state are well represented both by individual demonstrations and by a joint exhibit presented by 52 state departments.

Machinery hall is showing this year many new farm implements and inventions never before shown in any large city.

The automobile show and the style show present the very latest modes in motors and women's raiment.

Indian art, pottery, bead work, blankets and rugs have been gathered from Minnesota's store of treasures and were shown last night in the art exhibit premier under the direction of Dudley Crafts Watson.

Today was set aside as children's day and beyond the fact that children were admitted to the grounds free, demonstrations were given especially for the child audience.

The fair will continue all next week.

St. Paul, Sept. 4. — The turnstiles at the Minnesota State Fair grounds at Hamline had clicked for 9,227 persons at noon today.

Last year the attendance at the same hour of the opening day was 9,494. Rain today prevented many persons attending, duplicating the condition of the opening day last year.

Most of the early arrivals were veteran visitors at former fairs. The crowd was coming in larger numbers this afternoon.

START SERVING BREAD, WATER JAIL SENTENCE

Tekamah, Neb., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Ray Carson and Thomas Nelson will start serving their 40 day bread and water jail sentence for violating the prohibition laws in county jail here Tuesday, Sheriff W. D. Smith announced this afternoon.

Although supreme court mandate ordering them to serve the first and last 20 days of a 60 day sentence imposed by County Judge Orville Chatt arrived today the sheriff decided to wait until after Labor day before taking the young Burt county farmers into custody.

SYMPATHETIC STRIKE OF MUSICIANS BILLED FOR MILWAUKEE

Milwaukee, Sept. 4. — (UP) — Musicians at two Orpheum circuit vaudeville theaters here are expected to walk out tonight in a sympathetic strike said to be occasioned by wage difficulties of union men at San Francisco.

It is expected that 75 musicians, including orchestras at both theaters and all musical acts, will join in the strike here.

According to James Higler, manager of one theater, perfect harmony exists in Milwaukee and the strike is purely sympathetic.

EUGENE DEBS ILL; TO GO BACK TO SANITARIUM

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Eugene Debs is to go back to Lindlahr, near Chicago, the sanitarium at which he regained his health shortly after his release from Atlanta federal penitentiary, it was learned today.

Debs has been ill here since his return from Bermuda several months ago. An attack of influenza started an illness which terminated in a sort of nervous breakdown. At first plans were made for him to go to Denver for a complete rest but it is now planned for his return to the Lindlahr sanitarium in about 10 days.

U. S. WARSHIPS AND MARINES AT NICARAGUA, CHINA

ARE BUSY GUARDING AMERICAN
LIVES AND PROPERTY
ENDANGERED

CIVIL WAR FLARES UP IN SOUTH
AMERICAN COUNTRY AND IN EASTERN NATION

Washington, Sept. 4. — (UP) — United States warships and marines today were guarding American lives and property endangered by civil war in China and Nicaragua.

State department advisers reported an important battle being fought between forces of the radical Canton government and of Marshal Wu Pei Fu near Hankow, China, where there is an American missionary and business colony.

Two additional American gunboats are expected to arrive at Hankow today. There was no official confirmation of Canton reports that the U. S. S. Rochester, flagship of the special service squadron, has joined the U. S. S. Galveston at the Nicaraguan port of Bluefields, center of American interests.

A decisive battle between liberal revolutionist forces and the army of General Chamorro, unrecognized president of Nicaragua, still was reported impending across Bluefields Bay at El Bluff.

Washington, Sept. 4. — An American hospital at Wuchang, China, near Hankow, and the United States destroyer Elvino have been fired upon by Chinese troops, the state department was informed today by the United States consul general at Hankow.

The American church hospital was struck 20 times by bullets fired during fighting between Cantonese troops and forces under Wu Pei Fu, the consul reported he was informed by telephone from Wuchang.

The destroyer was steaming up the Yangtze river, seven miles below Hankow when troops believed to have been Cantonese, fired on it, striking it several times, the dispatch said. The boat did not return the fire.

No reports of Americans killed or wounded have been received.

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES OF HERMAN L. EKERN

Madison, Wis., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Campaign expenditures of $3,529.30 were noted in the statement of Attorney General Herman L. E Kern, republican candidate for nomination as governor, which was filed with the secretary of state today.

TWICE STRUCK AND KNOCKED DOWN BY TRUCKS

Kerkhoven, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Twice struck and knocked down by trucks, Stanley Bergstrand, 11, is in a serious condition here. Without seeing it he stepped into the path of one truck and was knocked down and before he could run to safety, the second truck hit him. He was unconscious for 24 hours after the accident.

BRECKENRIDGE POLICEMAN KILLS BANDIT

ROBBERS HELD UP POOL ROOM
AND SOME OF INTENDED VIC-TIMS ESCAPED

THEY RAN AROUND THE CORNER
AND SUMMONED POLICEMAN
CASPER SCOTT

Breckenridge, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — The failure of four young bandits to count the number of victims before them proved fatal to one and resulted in the arrest of a second. The other two escaped.

Two of the men walked into a pool room in the business district here Friday night, whipped out revolvers and lined up the bartender and 14 patrons against the wall. First they went through the cash register and emptied it. Next they started to search their victims.

While the search was being made carelessly, a half dozen of the patrons slipped out of the line one by one and escaped through a side door. The bandits did not observe this and continued to take their time.

The escaped patrons ran to Policeman Casper Scott, who entered the pool room. Just as he stepped across the threshold he began shooting and one of the bandits fell dead.

The second dropped his gun, whirled a patron in front of himself and behind this human shield was protected from the bullets. He surrendered immediately but refused to talk.

Two others are believed to have been concerned in the holdup. A few minutes before it transpired, the two men who actually took part entered with two others, ordered soft drinks and walked out.

Neither bandit was from Breckenridge. A number of persons viewed the dead bandit, who was about 40 years old, but could not identify him.

The captured bandit persistently refused to give his name, but finally admitted that he was known as "Kid" Moore. He said his home was in LaFourche, La., but declined to answer questions regarding his occupation.

Sheriff James Fitzgerald of Wilkin county said today that he believed the other two bandits were stationed outside as lookouts. He sent word to surrounding towns and may form a posse for the pursuit.

Later the slain bandit was identified as Sam Westervo of Carroll, Ill.

RESCUE SQUADS SEARCH MINE FOR BODIES

11 BODIES RECOVERED AT BLAST
WRECKED MINE OF TAHONA, OKLA.

BELIEVED THAT 5 MORE ARE IN THE MINE, 16 KNOWN
KILLED

Tahona, Okla., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Rescue squads were continuing their search early today into the blast wrecked mine of the Superior Smokeless Coal Company near here for additional bodies of victims killed in yesterday's explosion.

Eleven bodies have been recovered and it is believed there are five more in the mine. Sixteen miners are known to have perished. Two others escaped with serious injuries.

An investigation into the cause of the blast was to be made as soon as officials of the state bureau of mines are able to penetrate into the inner workings of the mine which is filled with gas fumes.

Tahona, Okla., Sept. 4. — Eleven bodies have been removed from the Superior Coal Company's mine near here today where 16 miners perished in a gas explosion yesterday.

Rescue workers were pushing ahead rapidly this afternoon in an effort to recover the five bodies remaining in the debris filled tunnels.

FARMER IS CAUGHT IN THRESHER BELT; KILLED INSTANTLY

Alexandria, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — A threshing machine belt which caught in the clothing of Anton M. Clehy of Millerville township, whirled him three-fourths of the way around a large pulley and crushed his skull. He died instantly.

SECY. JARDINE TO BE THE FINAL ARBITER IN MATTER

SHALL SUPERIOR NATIONAL FOR-EST BE INVADIED BY HIGHWAYS?

WIDESPREAD ORGANIZED PRO-TEST APPARENT AGAINST IMPROVEMENT

St. Paul, Sept. 4. — (UP) — The final determination of whether the Superior National Forest is to remain in its present state or is to be invaded by highways rests with Secretary of Agriculture William M. Jardine today, following a hearing on the question here yesterday.

Because of a widespread organized protest against road building, which it was declared would doom Minnesota's last stretch of wilderness, Colonel William B. Greeley, United States chief forester, conducted a hearing before which those interested presented their views.

Six hours were required to hear the varying shades of opinion which ranged from bitter opposition to equally strenuous support.

Greeley himself stepped into the wide breach with a plan by which one half of the territory would be set aside to remain a wilderness and the other half would be opened up to roads and the other influences of civilization.

Greeley pointed out the difficulty involved in the fact that federal, state and private lands now comprise the territory and said one of the fundamental endeavors should be to consolidate these holdings, through federal purchase of the entire region.

James F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner; Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner; Grover M. Conzet, state forester; the commissioners of Lake and Cook counties; representatives of the Izak Walton League and other sportsmen's organizations gave their views.

SEEK TO KEEP THE NAME OF STANFIELD OFF OREGON BALLOT

Salem, Ore., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Injunction proceedings to keep the name of Senator Robert Stanfield off the November ballot as an independent candidate for United States senator were started in circuit court here today by William M. Stone, Oregon City attorney.

The purpose of the suit directed at Secretary of State Sam Keizer is to obtain a court order to restrain Keizer from certifying the name of Stanfield as a candidate for the senatorship.

BADLY INJURED CLEANING WINDOWS

Rothsay, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — With Minnesota schools prepared to open during the next two weeks, the first casualty has been reported. T. J. Juvrud of Rothsay was injured when he slipped on a ladder while cleaning the schoolhouse windows here. A steel hoop cut a deep gash in his hand.

OMAR KHAYYAN, MILL CITY LEOPARD, IS A PROUD PAPA

Minneapolis, Sept. 4. — (UP) — Omar Khayyan, leopard at the Longfellow gardens here, became a proud papa today when Mrs. Khayyan, if they call lady leopards that, presented him with twins.

CONFIDENT THAT WEATHER WILL CLEAR SUNDAY

BRAINERD ON SUNDAY HOSTS TO 500 EMPLOYEES AND FAMILIES

DAY WILL BE A GRAND GET TO-GETHER AFFAIR FOR THE MEN

In spite of the rains of the past week which had threatened to put a quietus on the big celebration picnic of Maintenance of Way Employees of three railways, the Northern Pacific, Minnesota & International and B. F. & I. F., the railway men have confidence that the weather tomorrow will be nice and the picnic at Lum Park will be scheduled as planned. It was announced today by W. H. Gemmell.

Brainerd tomorrow will be hosts to more than 500 railway maintenance employees and an effort will be made to give the visitors a royal time.

The day will be in a sense a grand get together of maintenance men, and their families of their roads for the purpose of enjoying themselves and getting a closer relationship between the employees.

The committee, which consists of H. Dybvik, Otto Kukkola and Oscar Veltz of Brainerd, Earle Dally of Pequot, Mr. Hanson and Mike Gordon of Merrifield, have been busy in lining things up for a big time. They have been successful in securing the pavilion for the day which seats about a thousand people. There will be sports for the little folks, and the bathing beach and popular roller coaster will be available to all. Everyone hopes for a bright, sunny day.

Speakers at the picnic will include W. H. Gemmell, president of the M. & I.; Messrs. Crook and Miller of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees.

Mr. Crook is the grand vice president and Mr. Miller of Seattle is the general chairman of the system. Mayor F. E. Little and Carl Wright of Brainerd are being sought to speak, and Mike Jordan of McGregor who is a member of the Brainerd local and the assistant secretary-treasurer of the entire system, will act as toastmaster and, according to reports "he is the boy that can keep things moving."

Coffee, cream, sugar and lemons will be served free. All that will be necessary is the lunch and cups.

Those who arrive on trains will be met at the depot and taken to Lum Park.

SECY KELLOGG TO CONSIDER W. C. T. U. PLAIN

Minneapolis, Sept. 4. — (UP) — Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg promised today to give consideration to the demands of the Women's Christian Temperance union units for an investigation of the reported champagne toast to Gertrude Ederle by William Corcoran, United States consul at Boulogne, France.

Kellogg said he had not received the temperance organization's demand for an investigation, but that if the facts warrant he will institute an investigation.

Both the Minneapolis and the Omaha units of the temperance organization have made demands for recall of Corcoran if the charges that he said "Hurrah for prohibition" in his toast are true.

OSBORNE WOOD, SON OF GENERAL, ILL IN INDIANA

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Osborne Wood, son of Major General Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippines, is ill in a hospital here. Dr. F. J. Wynn, his physician, said his condition was not serious and he would be out of the hospital in about a week.

Wood has been here for about two months enrolled as a student in a sales course conducted by an electrical refrigerator company.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Campaign expenditures of $3,529.30 were noted in the statement of Attorney General Herman L. Eker, republican candidate for nomination as governor, which was filed with the secretary of state today.

TWICE STRUCK AND KNOCKED DOWN BY TRUCKS

Kerkhoven, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Twice struck and knocked down by trucks, Stanley Bergstrand, 11, is in a serious condition here. Without seeing it he stepped into the path of one truck and was knocked down and before he could run to safety, the second truck hit him. He was unconscious for 24 hours after the accident.

BRECKENRIDGE POLICEMAN KILLS BANDIT

ROBBERS HELD UP POOL ROOM AND SOME OF INTENDED VICTIMS ESCAPED

THEY RAN AROUND THE CORNER AND SUMMONED POLICEMAN CASPER SCOTT

Breckenridge, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — The failure of four young bandits to count the number of victims before them proved fatal to one and resulted in the arrest of a second. The other two escaped.

Two of the men walked into a pool room in the business district here Friday night, whipped out the revolvers and lined up the bartender and 14 patrons against the wall. First they went through the cash register and emptied it. Next they started to search their victims.

While the search was being made carelessly, a half dozen of the patrons slipped out of the line one by one and escaped through a side door. The bandits did not observe this and continued to take their time.

The escaped patrons ran to Policeman Casper Scott, who entered the pool room. Just as he stepped across the threshold he began shooting and one of the bandits fell dead.

The second dropped his gun, whirled a patron in front of himself and behind this human shield was protected from the bullets. He surrendered immediately but refused to talk.

Two others are believed to have been concerned in the holdup. A few minutes before it transpired, the two men who actually took part entered with two others, ordered soft drinks and walked out.

Neither bandit was from Breckenridge. A number of persons viewed the dead bandit, who was about 40 years old, but could not identify him.

The captured bandit persistently refused to give his name, but finally admitted that he was known as "Kid" Moore. He said his home was in LaFourche, La., but declined to answer questions regarding his occupation.

Sheriff James Fitzgerald of Wilkin county said today that he believed the other two bandits were stationed outside as lookouts. He sent word to surrounding towns and may form a posse for the pursuit.

Later the slain bandit was identified as Sam Westervo of Carroll, Ill.

RESCUE SQUADS SEARCH MINE FOR BODIES

11 BODIES RECOVERED AT BLAST WRECKED MINE OF TAHONA, OKLA.

BELIEVED THAT 5 MORE ARE IN THE MINE, 16 KNOWN KILLED

Tahona, Okla., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Rescue squads were continuing their search early today into the blast wrecked mine of the Superior Smoke-Jess Coal Company near here for additional bodies of victims killed in yesterday's explosion.

Eleven bodies have been recovered and it is believed there are five more in the mine. Sixteen miners are known to have perished. Two others escaped with serious injuries.

An investigation into the cause of the blast was to be made as soon as officials of the state bureau of mines are able to penetrate into the inner workings of the mine which is filled with gas fumes.

Tahona, Okla., Sept. 4. — Eleven bodies have been removed from the Superior Coal Company's mine near here today where 16 miners perished in a gas explosion yesterday.

Rescue workers were pushing ahead rapidly this afternoon in an effort to recover the five bodies remaining in the debris filled tunnels.

FARMER IS CAUGHT IN THRESHER BELT; KILLED INSTANTLY

Alexandria, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — A threshing machine belt which caught in the clothing of Anton M. Cichy of Millerville township, whirled him three-fourths of the way around a large pulley and crushed his skull. He died instantly.

SECY. JARDINE TO BE THE FINAL ARBITER IN MATTER

SHALL SUPERIOR NATIONAL FOREST BE INVADDED BY HIGHWAYS?

WIDESPREAD ORGANIZED PROTEST APPARENT AGAINST IMPROVEMENT

St. Paul, Sept. 4. — (UP) — The final determination of whether the Superior National Forest is to be invaded by highways rests with Secretary of Agriculture William M. Jardine today, following a hearing on the question here yesterday.

Because of a widespread organized protest against road building, which it was declared would doom Minnesota's last stretch of wilderness, Colonel William B. Greeley, United States chief forester, conducted a hearing before which those interested presented their views.

Six hours were required to hear the varying shades of opinion which ranged from bitter opposition to equally strenuous support.

Greeley himself stepped into the wide breach with a plan by which one half of the territory would be set aside to remain a wilderness and the other half would be opened up to roads and the other influences of civilization.

Greeley pointed out the difficulty involved in the fact that federal, state and private lands now comprise the territory and said one of the fundamental endeavors should be to consolidate these holdings, through federal purchase of the entire region.

James F. Gould, state game and fish commissioner; Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner; Grover M. Conzet, state forester; the commissioners of Lake and Cook counties; representatives of the Izaak Walton League and other sportsmen's organizations gave their views.

SEEK TO KEEP THE NAME OF STANFIELD OFF OREGON BALLOT

Salem, Ore., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Injunction proceedings to keep the name of Senator Robert Stanfield off the November ballot as an independent candidate for United States senator were started in circuit court here today by William M. Stone, Oregon City attorney.

The purpose of the suit directed at Secretary of State Sam Keizer is to obtain a court order to restrain Keizer from certifying the name of Stanfield as a candidate for the senatorship.

BADLY INJURED CLEANING WINDOWS

Rothsay, Minn., Sept. 4. — (UP) — With Minnesota schools prepared to open during the next two weeks, the first casualty has been reported. T. J. Juvrud of Rothsay was injured when he slipped on a ladder while cleaning the schoolhouse windows here. A steel hoop cut a deep gash in his hand.

OMAR KHAYYAN, MILL CITY LEOPARD, IS A PROUD PAPA

Minneapolis, Sept. 4. — (UP) — Omar Khayyan, leopard at the Longfellow gardens here, became a proud papa today when Mrs. Khayyan, if they call lady leopards that, presented him with twins.

CONFIDENT THAT WEATHER WILL CLEAR SUNDAY

BRAINERD ON SUNDAY HOSTS TO 500 EMPLOYEES AND FAMILIES

DAY WILL BE A GRAND GET TOGETHER AFFAIR FOR THE MEN

In spite of the rains of the past week which had threatened to put a quietus on the big celebration picnic of Maintenance of Way Employees of three railways, the Northern Pacific, Minnesota & International and B. F. & I. F., the railway men have confidence that the weather tomorrow will be nice and the picnic at Lum Park will be scheduled as planned, it was announced today by W. H. Gemmell.

Brainerd tomorrow will be hosts to more than 500 railway maintenance employees and an effort will be made to give the visitors a royal time.

The day will be in a sense a grand get together of maintenance men, and their families of their roads for the purpose of enjoying themselves and getting a closer relationship between the employees.

The committee, which consists of H. Dybvik, Otto Kukkola and Oscar Vellet of Brainerd, Earle Dally of Pequot, Mr. Hanson and Mike Gordon of Merrifield, have been busy in lining things up for a big time. They have been successful in securing the pavilion for the day which seats about a thousand people. There will be sports for the little folks, and the bathing beach and popular roller coaster will be available to all. Everyone hopes for a bright, sunny day.

Speakers at the picnic will include W. H. Gemmell, president of the M. & I.; Messrs. Crook and Miller of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees.

Mr. Crook is the grand vice president and Mr. Miller of Seattle is the general chairman of the system. Mayor F. E. Little and Carl Wright of Brainerd are being sought to speak, and Mike Jordan of McGregor who is a member of the Brainerd local and the assistant secretary-treasurer of the entire system, will act as toastmaster and, according to reports "he is the boy that can keep things moving."

Coffee, cream, sugar and lemons will be served free. All that will be necessary is the lunch and cups.

Those who arrive on trains will be met at the depot and taken to Lum Park.

SECY KELLOGG TO CONSIDER W. C. T. U. PLAIN

Minneapolis, Sept. 4. — (UP) — Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg promised today to give consideration to the demands of the Women's Christian Temperance union units for an investigation of the reported champagne toast to Gertrude Ederle by William Corcoran, United States consul at Boulogne, France.

Kellogg said he had not received the temperance organization's demand for an investigation, but that if the facts warrant he will institute an investigation.

Both the Minneapolis and the Omaha units of the temperance organization have made demands for recall of Corcoran if the charges that he said "Hurrah for prohibition" in his toast are true.

OSBORNE WOOD, SON OF GENERAL, ILL IN INDIANA

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 4. — (UP) — Osborne Wood, son of Major General Leonard Wood, governor general of the Philippines, is ill in a hospital here. Dr. F. J. Wynn, his physician, said his condition was not serious and he would be out of the hospital in about a week.

Wood has been here for about two months enrolled as a student in a sales course conducted by an electrical refrigerator company.

THE BIRCH

Hello old friend,
I see you bend
When the breeze blows thru the trees.
With all your beauty,
You fill your duty
To harmonize with ease.

You grow with time,
In local climate
Without a kick or fuss.
We've birch canoes
To sail on sloughs
And know that you've supplied us.
While you watch o'er
My humble door,
I have a warm sensation.
That as I sleep,
Awake you keep,
To guard my relaxation.

No doubt you've stood
Among this wood,
Your years are never empty.
But to me you seem,
When in a dream,
A strong and sturdy sentry.

WILLARD GILES,

Deerwood Sanatorium

THE BIRCH

Hello old friend,
I see you bend
When the breeze blows thru the trees.
With all your beauty,
You fill your duty
To harmonize with ease.
You grow with time,
In local clime
Without a kick or fuss.
We've birch canoes
To sail on sloughs
And know that you've supplied us.

While you watch o'er
My humble door,
I have a warm sensation.
That as I sleep,
Awake you keep,
To guard my relaxation.

No doubt you've stood
Among this wood,
Your years are never empty.
But to me you seem,
When in a dream,
A strong and sturdy sentry.

WILLARD GILES,

STATE HIGHWAY REPLY

Department Pleased With Spirit in District as to Work Done on Roads

The County Highway Department have received the following letter from the State Highway Department, signed by C. L. Mott, assistant maintenance engineer, in reply to the letter sent them expressing appreciation of the placing of tarvia on Highway No. 19 from Nisswa to Brainerd:

"We received the resolution of the Crow Wing County Board in regard to the tarvia treatment between Brainerd and Nisswa, which we want to say was very highly appreciated.

"We are certainly very much pleased with the fine spirit that seems to exist in Crow Wing county in regard to the work done on the trunk highways, and this attitude and fine spirit makes the consideration of work to be done in Crow Wing county a pleasant experience."

FUNERAL SERVICES OF MRS. G. JONES

Mrs. Jones, Formerly Miss Ethel Jorgenson of Brainerd Died at Milwaukee

WAS 22 YEARS OLD

Death Caused by Ruptured Appendix; Funeral to be Here Tuesday

The funeral services of Mrs. Glenn Jones, formerly Miss Ethel Jorgenson of this city will be held at the First Methodist church next Tuesday at 2 p. m. Mrs. Jones died at the age of 22 years of ruptured appendix at a Milwaukee hospital. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgenson of 1912 Oak street east. She was married to Glenn Jones in April 1925. Surviving are her husband, Mr. and Mrs. John Jorgenson, parents, 7 sisters, Mrs. Myron Miller of Phoenix, Arizona; Mrs. May Cochrane of Sand Point, Idaho; Mrs. William Swearingen of Brainerd; Mrs. William Thielan of Minneapolis; Mrs. Harry Hughes; Mrs. Harry Benson, and Miss Myrtle Jorgenson of Brainerd, Minn.

Mrs. Jones was born and raised in Brainerd, attending public schools, including three years at high school. She held clerical positions in several business houses.

She was received in membership in the Methodist church, May 24, 1914 by the Rev. E. E. Satterlee and was a faithful member while residing here, holding the record for Sunday school attendance one year, and always interested in the fine things of life. Her body arrived in this city at noon today and will remain at Whitney undertaking parlors until Sunday when it will be taken to the family residence on Oak street. The funeral services will be conducted by the pastor, Rev. Morris Eversz at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the church.

Pall bearers are: Harry Hughes, Harry Benson, William Swearingen, Eldon Swearingen, Henry Cunningham, Clifford Welsh. Interment will be at Evergreen cemetery.

New Cement Bridge Proposed on Township Road Southwest of Pequot

COAL BIDS ARE RECEIVED

Extension of Breezy Point Road Also Proposed; State Sanctions It

Bids on the proposed new cement bridge on a township road southwest of Pequot on a road connecting Cass and Crow Wing counties will be received today at the County Commissioners meeting now in session at the court house.

R. W. Harte, cashier of the First National bank of Pequot is appearing before the commissioners in regard to a new road west of Pequot. This road if approved by the county commissioners, it having already been approved by the State Highway Department, will be a continuation of the Breezy Point road to the Cass county line on what is known as State Aid Road No. 6.

Such routine business as the consideration of bids for coal is also being taken care of.

FASHIONS

By HEDDA HOYT

New York, Sept. 4. — (UP)—There's always something new in flapperdom! Some new little fad or trick of wearing the hair which distinguishes the flapper from the young matron.

For instance, the wee hatbag called the Charleston, was designed especially for the chic young Miss. It's a small black oilcloth bag exactly like a stiff traveling hatbox in shape. It is lined in oilcloth since it is used for carrying wet bathing suits. Some of them are fitted with vanity pouches for powder, rouge, comb, etc. Hat bags of leather or oilcloth have become quite important of late since women are using them as overnight bags, shopping bags, and what-not. Thus the diminutive hatbag becomes a fad with the young bathing girl.

Another beach fad is the rubber doll bathing bag which is made of bright colored rubber and is designed in the form of a large doll with swinging arms and legs. A draw string is fitted at the back of the doll head.

And have you seen the latest Flapper hair-do? The hair grows longer at one side of the head than on the other and the longer hair is whirled across the back of the head until it overlaps the short hair, giving a long-haired effect. The head looks as though the hair is plastered to it.

A new hat designed for youthful misses is called the "tea for two" chapeau. It's a small head-shaped felt without a brim but with a top resembling a horse's blinder downwards over one side of the head, almost covering the eye. Thus a girl can make eyes at a man at the next table without her escort seeing her.

Whatever length the matron chooses for her Fall frocks, the flapper will still consider the shorter the merrier. Her skirts will not grow longer if she can help it.

Brilliant red finger nails and earlobes must harmonize, say the flappers. The very tip of the ear is exposed after all these years of concealment and its pearly paleness is glorified with the rouge pot. Nails are tinted red and then enameled to give additional glow.

Rev. F. Webster Tyler Here From New York For Campaign At Full Gospel Assembly Next Two Weeks

Rev. F. Webster Tyler, from Birmingham, New York, who held a very successful revival campaign at The Full Gospel Assembly last fall, arrived in the city today for another meeting in Brainerd. He was met at the depot by a reception committee from the Assembly, who welcomed him to their midst.

The special services will open on Sunday, Sept. 5, at 3 p. m., at The Full Gospel Assembly, 1/2 A St. N. E., with service in the evening at 7:30. Services will be held every evening except Monday at 7:30.

"Rev. Tyler made many friends during his last meeting here, who will be glad to see and hear him again. He is a wonderful speaker, and well grounded in the Word of God. He formerly was a missionary in Africa, and has had a great deal of experience in Gospel work. It will be a real privilege for Brainerd to have such a man as Rev. Tyler for two weeks, and all should avail themselves of this opportunity to hear him," Rev. Johnson, pastor of The Full Gospel Assembly said today. A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend all of these meetings.

You talk about your sweetie, stop talking about your sweetie, let's talk about my sweetie now.

Rae Samuels, In Vaudeville Since Childhood, Likes Domesticity

New York City.—If you happen to hear Rae Samuels, that rollicking star of vaudeville, singing "Let's Talk About My Sweetie," her latest hit, you may get the idea that the singer is one of those actresses you read about who help to make Broadway gay when more sober citizens are in bed. But prepare for a shock!

"I have never been inside a night club in my life," declares Miss Samuels. "You read a lot about stage door meetings and men who take actresses out to supper. I wonder if I'll be believed when I say that the only supper I have ever had after the theatre, I got out of my own ice box and shared with the husband I've had for fifteen years!"

"I know this is against all tradition, but I can't help it. Moreover, while I am shattering illusions, I might as well confess that I believe the part of stage people in the gay life of Manhattan or any other place is highly exaggerated. Actors get a good deal of excitement out of their work—more perhaps, than the people of any other profession. They don't need the stimulation of supper clubs, and the like. Folks who lead dull lives do and they are the ones who go in for that sort of thing.

"There is another thing. You can't carouse all night and sing eight or ten songs twice the next day to the satisfaction of two highly critical audiences as I must do. Furthermore, you can't drink and smoke and expect your voice to stand up under the strain. Those who have tried have soon found out their mistake."

Miss Samuels is known to her adoring public as the blue streak of vaudeville. In private life, a life that holds checked aprons and a real kitchen, she is Mrs. Marty Forkins. The couple have no children, but are making plans to adopt a little girl. Mr. Forkins is a well-known theatrical man.

10,000 LAKES ASSOCIATION DEFENDED

RECENTLY when a proposal to donate $300 to the Ten Thousand Lakes Association of Minnesota was made at the Cass county board of commissioners, it was voted down. The Pillager Herald and the Walker Pilot take exception to the majority vote of the commissioners so recorded.

The Pillager Herald takes a broad view of benefits accruing from tourist travel and says:

"The county commissioners of Cass county at their last meeting refused to make an appropriation of $300 to the Ten Thousand Lakes Association of Minnesota. Speaking as a taxpayer of the county, we cannot agree with the commissioners in the 'wisdom' of their act. The Ten Thousand Lakes Association has shown that it is getting results. Before they started advertising the state the tourists here were counted by the hundreds. Today they are counted by the thousands, and the last couple of years it is estimated on good authority that we have had a million visitors. This number is growing each year. Minnesota is now the third tourist state in the country, being ranked by California and Florida.

"The increase and direct results of this business is felt on all sides. Every locality has its share. Business men benefit, hotels benefit, garages, confectionery stores and what not gain in business. Many a farmer supplies tourists with green vegetables, butter and cream. Land, long lain idle and of small value for other than lake shore property, is now being purchased and improved by these tourists who have come, seen and were conquered by our artistic and rugged beauty, our fish and beaches. Our tax rolls are increased, therefore our schools, townships, and other governing bodies gain, so that there is not a one of us but what gains in some degree.

"And yet, Cass county commissioners (or three of them, as Jones and Lyman supported the appropriation) have not the vision to see the tremendous benefits to be gained by advertising. It is not fair for Cass county to accept these benefits and give nothing in return. The state, other counties, villages and cities, and many private individuals make donations to this work. Cass county is one of the lake counties and should be willing to even do more than its share in assisting this cause. We do not believe there is a citizen in Cass county who would criticize one iota a donation of this kind. Residents of the Pine River, Hackensack and Cass Lake communities—three communities especially that are gaining from the tourist business—should inform their commissioners that they do not approve this 'penny wise and pound foolish' stuff.

"We all want to keep expenses down. A farmer wants to keep his expenses down, yet if he could buy a cow for $10 that would insure him $100 in return, he would buy the cow and not list it in his expenses. Cass county should do likewise. $300 is a small appropriation for the benefits received. If the county wanted to appropriate $1,000 we would gladly bear our share of the expenses and we haven't any special benefit to gain either, but would feel well repaid for the general benefit that would ensue."

BRAINERD LADIES BAND GETS PUBLICITY

THE Brainerd Ladies band certainly gets the publicity, whatever they do. Their recent exciting experience at the Wadena county fair when they scaled the fences to escape a cattle charge has secured reams of mention in all the big city dailies. The Minneapolis Journal especially devoted a half column to the story.

The St. Cloud Daily Journal-Press said: "Up at Wadena county fair the famous ladies' band of Brainerd led the stock parade. Then the bull charged on the big bass drum—which was a very base thing for him to do—but it resulted in plenty of action. As climbers of fences the ladies excelled the hurdle jumpers, and the track was dotted with all varieties of musical instruments. After the bull had been captured, the ladies gave the audience some fine music—and there is no throwing of the bull in this statement."

The Little Falls Daily Transcript gave this editorial paragraph: "The ladies band of Brainerd is gaining an enviable reputation over the state. Having furnished excellent entertainment at several county fairs the organization has been secured for a four-day engagement at the state fair."

THE Minnesota Editorial Association will have a newspaper headquarters building at the Minnesota State Fair this year—September 4th to 11th. The Association extends an invitation to fair visitors generally to call at newspaper headquarters, where the home town paper will be on file—and where other information or assistance in making their fair visit pleasant will be gladly given. While visiting the fair this year drop in at Editorial Association headquarters. Your visit there will be appreciated.

BUT study alone is not enough; the ambitious man must think. If he is not succeeding, he takes account of himself and, by thinking, tries to find out what he can do to become successful, to get ahead. He analyzes his own situation; he tries to find out what is wrong; he seeks advice, but he depends upon himself and his own thinking. He can help himself in a way that no one else can help him.—Judge E. H. Gary.

THE State Fair promises to gain the largest attendance in its history. As an example of interest is the report that a special train, carrying more than 500 residents of Cottonwood county and the Windom band will travel from Windom to the fair. In Crow Wing county the interest engendered because of a comprehensive county exhibit and the presence of the Brainerd Ladies band will draw a larger attendance than ever before sent.

IN the coming Dempsey-Tunney fracas at the Sesqui-centennial stadium in Philadelphia, Dempsey's nose will have to weather attacks. This is the nose which the champion had rebuilt in order to make a better appearance in the movies. In order to toughen his proboscis Dempsey is taking daily morning baths in an ill-smelling salt pickle brine and hopes to make his nose as tough as leather.

SYNOPSIS

His father's warning—"Take women's love scornfully—and forget!"—has made Juan the world's greatest lover. His cynicism is checked by Madonna-like Adriana Varanese; loving her, he reforms, but incurs the enmity of infamous Luchita Borgia, who loves him, and Donati, her kinsman, who covets Adriana. Circumstances destroy Juan's faith in Adriana. He becomes cynical again. To save her father, Adriana marries Donati; but Juan kills him, Adriana flees; her father is killed; Juan is captured, refusing Luchita's offer of freedom if he will give her devotion. A mystic, rousé message comes—

CHAPTER XI—Continued

It was most difficult to do so, because of the height of the window; in vain Juan stretched, struggled. Finally, just as the bit of parchment fluttered from that thin hand, he caught it.

Someone had scrawled a message on it, in a weak, almost illegible hand.

"I have loosened the third stone on the second level leading to my cell, in which there is a trap door opening to the river—and safety for the one who has the strength to lift it," Juan read.

Juan had hated the thought of living, had wanted to die, yet now, when confronted with the chance to escape, he grasped at it eagerly, almost without thinking. It was as if his body acted without being directed by his mind at all, as if some stranger had suddenly taken possession of him, and began to direct his activities. There, in that gloomy, damp hole, which might have been part of another world than the one in which he had lived, in that moment he gave up his own being and became for a while another being.

Juan threw his weight against the wall once more.

Something within him seemed to stand off in surprise. It seemed to say to him, "But you want to die! You have longed for death—why are you doing this thing?"

But he was like a wild animal that knows no reason, that goes blindly on but with the instinct for self-preservation driving it on in frantic haste. He hardly knew what he was doing, but only that it must be done.

Wading through the water he knelt and began to count the stones. The third stone on the second level. They were all large, heavy stones; it was surprising that the thin arm he had seen at the window could have loosened one of them.

There—the third one. Cautiously he tapped on it, and promptly an answering tap came from the other side.

Eagerly he tried to move the stone, but it did not budge. Again he tried, and again. His own failure made him the more eager; almost in a frenzy, he tolled at it. The rough stone tore his hands; he slipped in the slimy water, struck his face against the wall so hard that it bled. For a moment he was dazed; then, the moment his head cleared, he returned to his task.

Night came and moonlight, a tiny ray of which pierced the cell's darkness. Once Juan had thought that the stone moved a little, and more frantically than ever, he strove to move it again. There were steps in the corridor. The steps of those coming to lead him to the death, perhaps. He knelt in the water until they had passed, then with a final effort that cost all his strength he hurled himself at the stone.

Almost imperceptibly at first, then a little more rapidly, it moved. Juan threw his weight against it once more. It moved gratefully, slowly, then at last fell into the dungeon next his. The water on that other floor splashed as the stone slid into it.

Juan held his breath, fearful that the gaolers in the corridor might have heard. Then, reassured, he squirmed through the opening in the wall. Scrawny hands like claws clatched his shoulders and tugged, helping him through. Juan, exhausted by his struggle with the huge stone, was glad of their help. Life had suddenly become sweet to him for a moment as he strove with it, yet even now, as he slumped down in this neighboring cell, he wondered why he had made the effort to avoid death.

He straightened up at last, rubbed his eyes, and looked about him. In the wavering gleam of pale moonlight he saw the man who had helped him, a living skeleton with a madman's face.

The Marchese Rinaldi, the man who had killed his wife because of her deception of him and her love of Juan?

Juan stared at him in horror. Rinaldi, recognizing him, raised his clenched hands high over his head, crying out in delight.

"You!" he exclaimed, and in his voice there was no human note. "You! The gods have at last delivered you into my hands!"

Juan said nothing. After all, what did it matter how death came?

Rinaldi began to move toward him, slowly, glowering. He was laughing, a queer, snarling sound. His hands clenched and unclenched convulsively. The fingers were like the talons of some huge bird of prey.

Juan stood waiting, his shoulders drooping wearily, his body relaxed. It could not be many moments now, he told himself. Curious, that death should come to him through this man, that Luchita should be cheated of her vengeance in this manner.

There flashed before him the scene of his last meeting with Rinaldi, the night when the man had come striding into Juan's apartment, and found his wife there, terror-stricken. It would have been an easy matter to hide her and deceive the Marchese; no new experience for Juan, either, but he had taken a certain pleasure in refusing to interfere. In urging Rinaldi to refuse to forgive his wife.

His own despair over Adriana—how bitter it had made him, how glad he had been to bring suffering to others because of it. When the woman, spurred by her husband, had thrust a dagger into his side, he had felt that it was merely a fitting end of the whole matter.

And now Rinaldi was going to kill him!

The madman's thin, sharp fingers closed about his throat, Juan threw his head back. Never had a woman's caress been more welcome!

He waited, smiling, for death. But suddenly the talon-like fingers relaxed their grip. Opening his eyes, Juan saw that Rinaldi was staring at him in amazement.

"Do not stop, I pray you!" he urged.

The man grasped him by the throat, then stepped back, his hands hanging at his sides.

"You want me to kill you?" he cried to Juan, bewildered. "You want to die?"

Incredulously he faced Juan, who stared back at him hopelessly. When death had been so near, to have it snatched away like this!

Rinaldi's laughter rang through the cell.

"I see!" he cried. "Death would bring you peace and forgetfulness. Death means escape from the ghosts that haunt you—the ghosts of those whose souls you have destroyed!"

"You fear to kill me!" Juan retorted, hoping to anger the man into finishing what he had begun. But Rinaldi refused to be so trapped. He backed away, laughing still. Juan would have leaped upon him, provoked him into a fight in which he could have let the madman overpower him, but just then from the corridor came the clanking of chains.

Juan could imagine the scene, the gaoler and his assistants, standing there in the light of the torches, bearing chains with which to bind him before they dragged him forth.

Urging Colonization

The Japanese government will take up the emigration question as one of the most important confronting the country in connection with food and population. Efforts will be made to persuade emigrants to colonize the unoccupied parts of Hokkaido, Korea and South Sakhalin or find homes in foreign countries where this can be done without provoking opposition, as Brazil. The government has found out in the light of past experience that those who engage in agricultural pursuits make the best colonizers and married couples among them are preferable for the purpose.—Exchange.

Many Wait on Emperor

The members of an emperor's household are almost too numerous to mention. The principal members are as follows: Aides, equerries, gentlemen in waiting, chamberlain, herald master of the hunt, cup bearer, master of ceremonies, manager of the royal theater, master of the horse, chef, gentleman of the bed chamber, pages and superintendents of pages.

Saved by Quick Thinking

Houdon, the great French sculptor, denounced before the convention tribunal during the revolution for having a statue of a saint in his studio, escaped when a quick-thinking friend declared it was a figure of Philosophy.

DR. ROY SMITH'S SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

By the REV. ROY L. SMITH, D. D.
Pastor Simpson M. E. Church, Minneapolis

THE REAL LABOR PROBLEM

The biggest labor problem of America is not how to secure recognition of the worker, but how to increase our respect for work.

Popular literature and the moving pictures have represented the worker with his dinner pail and monotonous toil as an object of pity and the gilded youth with his high-powered car and night life as real life.

The facts are that the working man in America is the happiest citizen we have. He works for one wife and some little children, takes them out to the park on Sunday, rides into the country in his flivver, belongs to a lodge, pays on a mortgage on his home and attends a church made up of plain people.

His life is free from hectic rushing to keep engagements that do not amount to anything anyhow; he wears overalls after supper and smokes his pipe in contentment without any threat of dress suit or seven course dinner, interspersed with deadly speeches, hanging over him.

The boy or girl who envies the cake-eaters might well consider the happy lot of the bread-winners.

The percentage of successful business men who have come from homes of wealth is so pitifully small that the successful rich boy becomes an object of curiosity.

Ambition knows no spur equal to an unsatisfied want. The wise parent who dreams of a successful career for his children keeps a margin between their wants and their satisfactions. The youth who knows no unsatisfied want knows no necessity and necessity is the stepmother of success.

Business managers are quite agreed that opportunities were never so numerous for men who were willing to work.

We are living in an anaesthetic age when every known device has been used to spare us the necessity of work. Instead of the laborious four years in college burning the midnight oil we get our training by four easy lessons by mail. Instead of seven years' apprenticeship and a mastery of a trade, there is a six months course in a business college and an ad in the newspaper for a white collar job.

Big prizes are still being offered, but on the same old terms—work! Happiness is not a buy-product, but a by-product—a result of good work and honest workmanship.

"I know the joy of going good work," said Robert Louis Stevenson, and greater joy than this can no man know.

Let Labor day be a reminder of the joy of honest labor for no joy of indolence or wealth can compare with it.

Wood of Remarkable Age

According to experts wood a million years old has been found in California. C. L. Hill sent a sample of it to a forest products laboratory where it was identified as Sequoia. The undecayed wood of 2,500 years ago found in Tutank-Amen's tomb, says a government bulletin, is but a product of yesterday as compared to this.

This wood was taken from a tunnel 500 feet underground in Long canyon. The log was buried in the gravels of a Tertiary stream bed about 12 feet under lava cap. It is, therefore, estimated at least a million years old and is remarkable in that it has neither petrified nor disintegrated except as to the lighter springwood of some of the annual rings, says the Pathfinder Magazine.

High Cost of Harbors

Construction of a harbor for Tokyo, a pending problem for many years, will now be actually undertaken, according to the Jiji. The total cost of the work is estimated at $50,000,000. When Baron Sakatani was mayor of Tokyo, the cost had been estimated at only $15,000,000. The city, it is said, will ask for a government subsidy of one-third this amount, and another third of the sum is to be secured on the pledge of reclaimed ground, while the remainder is to be repaid out of receipts collected from ships entering the harbor. Bonds may be issued to raise the necessary amount.

The port of Nagasaki is being improved at a cost of $1,000,000.

Make Best of Hard Luck

The manner in which ladies of the Russian court have fitted themselves into the life of commerce in Paris is a matter of much comment in the French press. The Grand Duchess Marie went to work as any ordinary woman in a French embroidery house to learn her chosen profession and now employs dozens of her compatriots in her own place. In another dressmaking establishment, Princess Obolenski is the cashier and book-keeper, Princess Troubetskoi is the general manager of the cutting room, and Mile. Annienkoff has charge of fittings.

Beethoven in Film

Beethoven is to be brought before the eyes of living generations in a film which now is being prepared in and around Vienna. The master spent the greater part of his life in Austria, living in many houses in Vienna that still are standing. He composed for Vienna's churches, visited the homes of many of its noblemen, frequented its inns and taverns and spent his summer in many places nearby which are preserved in their former condition by admirers of the composer.

How Paris Does It

This is the way Paris keeps her great vegetable market, Market Central, clean. Rubbish carts are stationed at each street intersection in the market area and when the market days are over the refuse is loaded into these carts. Then an electric tractor comes along and hauls these rubbish-laden carts, in train formation, to the point where heavy trucks are waiting to carry the waste to the dump.

Here It Is Again

A nervous passenger on the first day of the voyage asked the captain what would be the result if the steamer should strike an iceberg while it was plunging through the fog. "The iceberg would move right along, madam," the captain replied courteously, "just as if nothing had happened." And the old lady was greatly relieved.—London Tit-Bits.

Something in the Line of Real Salesmanship

"Salesmanship is a great game, but you got to have the personality," said the man in the window-corner seat of the smoker. "I just sold $125,000 worth of gray ladies to an Omaha hotel company, and now I'm going to be made a vice president of our concern and get a nice fat bonus as well."

"That's good," said his vis-a-vis. "I'm always glad to see a fellow doing well. I sold half a million dollars' worth in my line this trip. Now I'm going to retire and see the world. Guess I'll do Rome and Paris first." "Excuse me, gents," apologized the passenger in the corner near the cuspidor. "I couldn't help overhearing your conversations, because when I hear salesmanships being talked on I got to listen, and I see as how you gents is perfect salesmen in your own way. But I now tell you what is real honest-to-God salesmanship, like as what I got to know in my business; which I tell you now is just a small retail, good-as-new, mislaid parlor, second-hand garments on Hester street; maybe you know the place, already, eh? Well, last week she come to me,

Times Have Changed

"The Bible tells us to love our neighbors," said the good deacon. "But the Bible was written before neighbors lived so close," suggested the unregenerate backslider.

Single-Handed Choir

Mr. Peavey not only played the piano accompaniments but sang bass, contralto and tenor solos when necessary. The audience listened in rapt attention.—Musical America.

Has Many Fine Meanings

The Hawaiian "aloha" may be translated in many ways, as welcome, greeting, friendship, love, brotherhood, mutual understanding and good-by until we meet again.

The Most Wonderful Book in the World

MORE than thirty million Bibles or Books of the Bible were sold or distributed in 1925.

Would you not love to have companion volumes to help you discover the treasures in that Wonderful Book?

SWEDENBORG

explained the Bible's practical application to daily life; how it describes the life hereafter; what the Bible parables mean when spiritually interpreted.

His theological works—as issued by himself—have been published by the Houghton Mifflin Co. in most modern translation from the original Latin, in the Rotch Edition of 32 volumes.

The first twenty give the spiritual sense of Genesis and Exodus as understood in Heaven; and volumes 26, 27, 28 give likewise the spiritual sense of the Book of Revelation.

Volume 29, Marriage Love, views from the union of the Divine Love and the Divine Wisdom the Law of Sex throughout all creation. It shows the crown and jewel of the Christian Religion, the union of one with one only. Price $2.00.

Volumes 30, 31, 32, contain a full statement of the True Christian Religion as revealed from Heaven. $3.00 the set.

The whole 32 volumes in half-morocco at $125; in buckram, $40.

The following are the best introductory books to the Revelations of SWEDENBORG. They are in large print, bound in buckram, and contain from 260 to 485 pages.

TITLES	PRICE
HEAVEN AND HELL from things heard and seen	$1.25

Angelic Wisdom Concerning—
THE DIVINE PROVIDENCE, which governs the Universe and the Heavens and the Hells, and the least as well as the greatest of all things in creation; and in the everyday life of man. $1.25

THE DIVINE LOVE AND WISDOM, the profoundest book and revelation concerning God and His Creation ever written, first published in Latin at Amsterdam 1763; along with this is the "Intercourse Between the Soul and the Body" first published in Latin at London 1769. $1.25

Price of all three at one time, including postage $2.75

Who Was Swedenborg?

Emanuel Swedenborg, the son of a bishop, was the great Swedish scientist, philosopher and theologian, whose vast range caused Emerson to term him the mastodon of scholars. Dr. Parkes Cadman recently named him the Universal Genius. Officially connected, by appointment of the King, with the great mining industry of Sweden, he mastered all the sciences of his time, and wrote the most useful books on metallurgy, minerals, geology, astronomy, and the human brain. His life search was for the human soul. How his spiritual senses were opened, after he was 30 years of age, that he might reveal the human soul, the life after death, and the Bible itself, may be read in the above named, uplifting, useful books.

ECHO HAUNTING CHURCH FOR 28 YEARS BANISHED BY SCIENCE

Felt Cloth on Which Echo Refused to Bounce. Bulletin Board Heraldizing Echo's Death.

A mysterious, tantalizing echo, which has haunted the First Congregational church of Clinton, Mass., for twenty-eight years, has been banished.

Every device known to architecture was tried over a period of more than a quarter of a century, but in vain. Parishioners left and went to other churches because they could not hear the pastor's sermons.

Science came to the rescue when a Boston acoustic engineer gambled $5,000 that he could remove the echo by acousti-celotex, a new sound absorbing material. If he failed, it would cost the church nothing. If the echo was routed, he was to get $5,000. He won. The church sent out a bulletin: "Our Famous Echo is Gone. Come to Church Next Sunday and See for Yourself." The Rev. Nathan H. Gist, the pastor, preached on this occasion the first sermon which the parishioners were able to hear in 28 years.

When the church was opened twenty-eight years ago, it was discovered that a noisy echo had taken lodgings in the rafters. Organ tuners found it impossible to tune the organ, as the echo, intercepting each chord, would fling it back with much the same force that had blown it from the pipes. The mocking little voice from the rafters prevented parishioners from hearing the sermons. The Rev. W. W. Jordan, the pastor, nearly ruined his voice trying to foil the mimicking echo. It took him twenty years of ceaseless study and patient practicing in the church before he was able to even partially overcome the eerie voice, which was so loud that people in the fourth pew could not hear him. Many of the flock left and went to other churches.

During these twenty-eight years every known means of exterminating echoes was tried, but to no avail. Wires were strung from the rafters to intercept the vibrations of the echo, but the dexterous voice continued to mimic the pastor and the music. An enormous felt cloth was hung over the back wall for the echo to bounce against, but this, too, failed. Then a mammoth sounding board was erected above the pulpit, but this had no effect on the tantalizing echo. During more than a quarter of a century suggestions poured in to the pastor and expert advice was sought continuously, but all the devices failed to banish the haunting voice.

About two months ago it was decided to remodel the church. It was then that a Boston acoustic engineer told the pastor that he could drive out the echo of twenty-eight years from the edifice. He was F. E. Berry, Jr., who was so confident that he could solve the quarter of a century problem that he agreed to take a gamble on it. He would charge the church nothing, if he failed, but would demand $5,000 if he drove the echo out. It was so agreed, and the acoustic engineer started to work.

More than 10,000 square feet of "acousti-celotex" board, a sound absorbing material made from the tough fibres of sugar cane after all the juice has been extracted, pressed into perforated one foot squares seven eighths of an inch thick, were placed on the ceiling of the auditorium to absorb the echo. Tests were made and the mimicking voice no longer sent out its tantalizing vibrations.

Scientists and architects have played tag with echo for centuries. They have tried to outwit it by building auditoriums on certain "perfect" proportions. But it is only within the past few years that they have learned that absorbent wall and ceiling surfaces are more effective in silencing an echo than the intricacies of architectural design.

The acousti-celotex which has vanquished the echo in the Clinton church is made from the felted fibres of sugar cane. This vegetable material, full of tiny connecting air pockets, is sound absorbent, but its efficiency has been greatly increased by drilling the surface full of tiny holes, which add 150 percent to its absorbing area. Four hundred holes, 1/4 inch in diameter are drilled into each of the foot square blocks of Celotex, with which the ceiling of the church has been covered.

Wood of Remarkable Age

According to experts wood a million years old has been found in California. C. L. Hill sent a sample of it to a forest products laboratory where it was identified as Sequoia. The undecayed wood of 2,500 years ago found in Tutankhamen's tomb, says a government bulletin, is but a product of yesterday as compared to this.

This wood was taken from a tunnel 500 feet underground in Long canyon. The log was buried in the gravels of a Tertiary stream bed about 12 feet under lava cap. It is, therefore, estimated at least a million years old and is remarkable in that it has neither petrified nor disintegrated except as to the lighter springwood of some of the annual rings, says the Pathfinder Magazine.

High Cost of Harbors

Construction of a harbor for Tokyo, a pending problem for many years, will now be actually undertaken, according to the Jiji. The total cost of the work is estimated at $50,000,000. When Baron Sakatani was mayor of Tokyo, the cost had been estimated at only $15,000,000. The city, it is said, will ask for a government subsidy of one-third this amount, and another third of the sum is to be secured on the pledge of reclaimed ground, while the remainder is to be repaid out of receipts collected from ships entering the harbor. Bonds may be issued to raise the necessary amount.

The port of Nagasaki is being improved at a cost of $1,000,000.

Make Best of Hard Luck

The manner in which ladies of the Russian court have fitted themselves into the life of commerce in Paris is a matter of much comment in the French press. The Grand Duchess Marie went to work as an ordinary woman in a French embroidery house to learn her chosen profession and now employs dozens of her compatriots in her own place. In another dressmaking establishment, Princess Obolenski is the cashier and book-keeper, Princess Troubetskoi is the general manager of the cutting room, and Mile. Annienkoff has charge of fittings.

Beethoven in Film

Beethoven is to be brought before the eyes of living generations in a film which now is being prepared in and around Vienna. The master spent the greater part of his life in Austria, living in many houses in Vienna that still are standing. He composed for Vienna's churches, visited the homes of many of its noblemen, frequented its inns and taverns and spent his summer in many places nearby which are preserved in their former condition by admirers of the composer.

How Paris Does It

This is the way Paris keeps her great vegetable market, Market Central, clean. Rubbish carts are stationed at each street intersection in the market area and when the market days are over the refuse is loaded into these carts. Then an electric tractor comes along and hauls these rubbish-laden carts, in train formation, to the point where heavy trucks are waiting to carry the waste to the dump.

Here It Is Again

A nervous passenger on the first day of the voyage asked the captain what would be the result if the steamer should strike an iceberg while it was plunging through the fog. "The iceberg would move right along, madam," the captain replied courteously, "just as if nothing had happened." And the old lady was greatly relieved.—London Tit-Bits.

Something in the Line

of Real Salesmanship

"Salesmanship is a great game, but you got to have the personality," said the man in the window-corner seat of the smoker. "I just sold $125,000 worth of gray ladies to an Omaha hotel company, and now I'm going to be made a vice president of our concern and get a nice fat bonus as well." "That's good," said his vis-a-vis. "I'm always glad to see a fellow doing well. I sold half a million dollars' worth in my line this trip. Now I'm going to retire and see the world. Guess I'll do Rome and Paris first." "Excuse me, gents," apologized the passenger in the corner near the cuspidor. "I couldn't help overhearing your conversations, because when I hears salesmanships being talked on I got to listen, and I see as how you gents is perfect salesmen in your own way. But I now tell you what is real honest-to-God salesmanship, like as what I got to know in my business; which I tell you now is just a small retail, good-as-new, misfit parlor, second-hand garments on Hester street; maybe you know the place, already, eh? Well, last week she come to me, Mrs. Elkelstein, what her husband died of being killed by an automobile, and she says she's a widow but that Elkelstein wasn't much good; but all the same, if she gets it cheap, she likes maybe to buy a new suit for to bury him in. Well, gents, I tell you I sells her the extra pair of pants with that suit. Now, that's what I calls salesmanship."—San Francisco Argonaut.

Times Have Changed

"The Bible tells us to love our neighbors," said the good deacon. "But the Bible was written before neighbors lived so close," suggested the unregenerate backslider.

Mr. Peavey not only played the piano accompaniments but sang bass, contralto and tenor solos when necessary. The audience listened in rapt attention.—Musical America.

SWEDENBORG

explained the Bible's practical application to daily life; how it describes the life hereafter; what the Bible parables mean when spiritually interpreted.

His theological works—as issued by himself—have been published by the Houghton Mifflin Co. in most modern translation from the original Latin, in the Rotch Edition of 32 volumes. The first twenty give the spiritual sense of Genesis and Exodus as understood in Heaven; and volumes 26, 27, 28 give likewise the spiritual sense of the Book of Revelation.

Volume 29, Marriage Love, views from the union of the Divine Love and the Divine Wisdom the Law of Sex throughout all creation. It shows the crown and jewel of the Christian Religion, the union of one with one only. Price $2.00.

Volumes 30, 31, 32, contain a full statement of the True Christian Religion as revealed from Heaven. $3.00 the set.

The whole 32 volumes in half-morocco at $125; in buckram, $40.

The following are the best introductory books to the Revelations of SWEDENBORG. They are in large print, bound in buckram, and contain from 260 to 485 pages.

Who Was Swedenborg?

Emanuel Swedenborg, the son of a bishop, was the great Swedish scientist, philosopher and theologian, whose vast range caused Emerson to term him the mastodon of scholars. Dr. Parke Cadman recently named him the Universal Genius. Officially connected, by appointment of the King, with the great mining industry of Sweden, he mastered all the sciences of his time, and wrote the most useful books on metallurgy, minerals, geology, astronomy, and the human brain. His life search was for the human soul. How his spiritual senses were opened, after he was 30 years of age, that he might reveal the human soul, the life after death, and the Bible itself, may be read in the above named, uplifting, useful books.

ECHO HAUNTING CHURCH FOR 28 YEARS BANISHED BY SCIENCE

The New Auditorium From Which Echo Was Driven by Acousti-Celotex.

Felt Cloth on Which Echo Refused to Bounce. Bulletin Board Heraldizing Echo's Death.

Exterior of Haunted Church Which Won 28 Year Battle With Mysterious Voice.

A mysterious, tantalizing echo, which has haunted the First Congregational church of Clinton, Mass., for twenty eight years, has been banished.

Every device known to architecture was tried over a period of more than a quarter of a century, but in vain. Parishioners left and went to other churches because they could not hear the pastor's sermons.

Science came to the rescue when a Boston acoustic engineer gambled $5,000 that he could remove the echo by acousti-celotex, a new sound absorbing material. If he failed, it would cost the church nothing. If the echo was routed, he was to get $5,000. He won. The church sent out a bulletin: "Our Famous Echo is Gone. Come to Church Next Sunday and See for Yourself." The Rev. Nathan H. Gist, the pastor, preached on this occasion the first sermon which the parishioners were able to hear in 28 years.

When the church was opened twenty-eight years ago, it was discovered that a noisy echo had taken lodgings in the rafters. Organ tuners found it impossible to tune the organ, as the echo, intercepting each chord, would fling it back with much the same force that had blown it from the pipes. The mocking little voice from the rafters prevented parishioners from hearing the sermons. The Rev. W. W. Jordan, the pastor, nearly ruined his voice trying to foil the mimicking echo. It took him twenty years of ceaseless study and patient practicing in the church before he was able to even partially overcome the eerie voice, which was so loud that people in the fourth pew could not hear him. Many of the flock left and went to other churches.

During these twenty-eight years every known means of exterminating echoes was tried, but to no avail. Wires were strung from the rafters to intercept the vibrations of the echo, but the dexterous voice continued to mimic the pastor and the music. An enormous felt cloth was hung over the back wall for the echo to bounce against, but this, too, failed. Then a mammoth sounding board was erected above the pulpit, but this had no effect on the tantalizing echo. During more than a quarter of a century suggestions poured in to the pastor and expert advice was sought continuously, but all the devices failed to banish the haunting voice.

Agreed, and the acoustic engineer started to work.

More than 10,000 square feet of "acousti-celotex" board, a sound absorbing material made from the tough fibres of sugar cane after all the juice has been extracted, pressed into perforated one foot squares seven eighths of an inch thick, were placed on the ceiling of the auditorium to absorb the echo. Tests were made and the mimicking voice no longer sent out its tantalizing vibrations.

Scientists and architects have played tag with echo for centuries. They have tried to outwit it by building auditoriums on certain "perfect" proportions. But it is only within the past few years that they have learned that absorbent wall and ceiling surfaces are more effective in silencing an echo than the intricacies of architectural design.

The acousti-celotex which has vanquished the echo in the Clinton church is made from the felted fibres of sugar cane. This vegetable material, full of tiny connecting air pockets, is sound absorbent, but its efficiency has been greatly increased by drilling the surface full of tiny holes, which adds 150 percent to its absorbing area. Four hundred holes, 1/4 inch in diameter are drilled into each of the foot square blocks of Celotex, with which the ceiling of the church has been covered.

DUCK SEASON OPENS FOR STATE ON SEPT. 16

LICENSES NOW ON SALE AT COUNTY AUDITOR'S OFFICE

C. W. MAHLUM ISSUES LICENSES; RESIDENT LICENSE $1, NON-RESIDENT LICENSE $25

TO MEET DEMAND OFFICE WILL BE KEPT OPEN EVENINGS ON SEPT. 13, 14 AND 15

The open season for the hunting of wild ducks, goose, coot, Wilson snipe, gallinules, yellow legs this year commences on September 16, and closes on December 31.

Licenses issued by J. F. Gould, game commissioner of the state game and fish department can now be had at the office of the county auditor, C. W. Mahlum. Residents desiring to hunt are requested to take out their licenses as soon as possible, the license for residents of the state costing $1. Non-resident licenses are also on sale at the county auditor's office and may be had for $25, Mr. Mahlum stated today.

In order to accommodate those who will not be able to secure their hunting license during the regular working hours, Mr. Mahlum has consented to keep his office open evenings on September 13, 14 and 15. He has also appointed deputies for the sale of licenses at Pequot, Jenkins and all range towns.

The license provisions, according to the Minnesota game and fish laws follows:

"Resident small game license, $1, required of all persons over fourteen years of age (except of person shooting on land owned or leased and occupied by themselves as permanent residence). Resident large game license (no exception) $2.00. Resident trapping license, $1.00. Non-resident small game license, $25.00; large game, $50.00. Resident licenses obtainable of county auditors only, non-resident licenses from game and fish commissioner."

No provision is made for the issuing of licenses to youths under 14 years of age. Children under that age do not come within the law for hunting as they are not permitted to carry a gun.

Duck hunters of Brainerd are waiting anxiously for the season for ducks to open. Reports are that the duck season this year will be good.

SPECULATION ON WHO WILL BE REFEREE

BIG FIGHT DRAWS FANS TO THE SESQUI-CENTENNIAL STADIUM

O'BRIEN, McCRACKEN, REILLY, O'KEEFE AND OTHERS MENTIONED AS REFEREE

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Speculation in boxing circles centered today around who will be the referee in the coming heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in the Sesqui-Centennial stadium.

The candidates most frequently mentioned and best known to fans include Frank "Pop" O'Brien, Frank McCracken, Tommy Reilly, Jack O'Keefe, Lew Crimmon, "Spud" Murphy and Frank Lloyd. All are seasoned veterans and well versed in the Pennsylvania boxing laws. The selection will be made known the day of the fight.

Ticket sales in the Philadelphia fight headquarters amounted to $81,200 Friday, bringing the total sold here well over $850,000, it was announced. This does not include the sale of tickets in New York, which should bring the figure well over the million mark.

Approximately $1,000,000 has been received by betting commissioners to place on Dempsey. The odds run between 8 to 5 and 2 to 1.

GREB THINKS TUNNEY STANDS GOOD CHANCE

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 4.—Two expert observers have an unfavorable impression of Jack Dempsey today. Gene Tunney has an excellent chance of winning the heavyweight boxing crown when he meets Dempsey, September 23, in the opinion of Harry Greb, former middleweight titleholder, while Jimmy De Forest, veteran trainer, believes the champion is not snappy enough.

After witnessing Dempsey's workouts here yesterday, Greb said Dempsey impressed him as being "all dried out."
"Dempsey is not showing up to his previous good form," Greb said. "He is missing too much and he is being hit too often by sparring partners, who are not particularly brilliant."

De Forest, who conditioned Dempsey for his fight with Jess Willard, said:

"His condition looks all right, but he is not stepping around as lively as he did in Toledo. He's not snappy enough in his work to suit me."

TUNNEY IN WORKOUT WITH SPARRING PARTNERS

Brook Country Club, Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 4.—For the first time since establishing his training quarters here, Gene Tunney was to work out with his sparring partners today. A large crowd of spectators from among the persons here for the week-end was expected.

"I am going along easy," Tunney said. "I am in condition to enter the ring with Dempsey today, so I am not going to take any chances of over training."

"I shall box only three days a week, but not nine rounds a day. Then I'll take it easy the rest of the time, hiking over the mountains and playing a little golf."

"That will keep me razor fine, just as I hang up to be when I get in there and win that title."

JACK DEMPSEY VS. JACK KEARNS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
New York, Sept. 4.—Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, had some sympathizers when he charged the heavyweight champion with an act of ingratitude in cutting away from him after he had spent eight years in directing him into a title and a fortune of a million dollars.

There were two sides, of course, and it never can be proved whether Kearns made Dempsey or Dempsey made Kearns and the final analysis would be that each did well financially by the other.

Kearns probably had more friends than Dempsey in their own set and when Dempsey decided to cut away from him he was panned by the boys in the street who figured that the first rule is to stick by a fellow who stuck with you.

Those with no opinion one way or the other and those not interested enough to have an opinion have turned against Kearns, however, for his actions since Dempsey signed a contract with Tex Rickard to fight Gene Tunney, a contract which Dempsey insists will have no end for Kearns.

Kearns slapped a suit on Dempsey for $333,333 just after he started training and when he was being pestered with a dozen other legal actions and a controversy with the New York boxing commission. Kearns apparently was advised by counsel that he had a case against Dempsey by reason of an agreement that was signed by Kearns with Rickard before their contract expired.

But the means Kearns took in further pestering Dempsey can get him no sympathy. Process servers for his action stopped Mrs. Dempsey in her car on the road near White Sulphur Springs, took the car away from her on an attachment and left her to get back to her cottage as best she could.

Then all the equipment at the training camp was attached, a deposit of $9,000 in a New York bank was attached and one of Kearns' agents said: "We'll take everything away from him that he's got—even his clothes."

All through this trouble and his other legal difficulties Dempsey has been conducting himself like a good scout. He may have some faults (who hasn't) but he certainly cannot be accused of vindictiveness, malice or meanness.

He is of a nervous temperament and it is not well for a fighter to have anything on his mind but fight in the weeks immediately preceding the defense of a heavyweight championship.

But all this trouble and annoyance may have the opposite effect on Dempsey. So far it has done nothing but make him mad and Tunney may turn out to be the goat of Kearns, McKetric & Company.

Dempsey, as has been pointed out time after time in this column, has been treated unfairly and if there had been any spite in him he could have given the public his side of the story but he preferred to take the blame rather than take any steps that might hurt the game.

It sounds silly to hear some fighters talk about saving the game of boxing because they love it as a sport. Dempsey does not talk about his love of the sport—perhaps he has a distaste for it now—but he does talk about boxing as his business and no man wants to hurt his own business.

If Kearns had been as careful to protect the business of boxing—not the fair name of the game—he and Dempsey might never have reached the end of their ways and since the parting was reached it is not good taste for him to be acting the part of a child.

RAINS CAUSE CITY SERIES TO BE POSTPONED

N. E. AND Y. M. C. A. PLAN TO BATTLE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

INTEREST RUNS HIGH, MANY PLANNING TO ATTEND OPENER

The "little world series" will be played starting Wednesday, Sept. 8, providing weather conditions are favorable. The rain which started Thursday afternoon and continued almost without ceasing through Friday, has flooded the playing field, both infield and outfield. Several days of dry, warm weather are needed to put them in shape.

The postponement of the games has increased interest to no small degree. Both N. E. and the Y. M. C. A. are biding their time with confidence. Neither team is over-confident, realizing that in their opponents they both will find worthy foes.

Many Brainerd people are attending the state fair over this week-end, returning on Tuesday, so the managers have planned to have the first game on Wednesday, giving everyone a chance to see the game.

The line-ups of both teams are standing pat, with Van Walk and Engbretson slated to do the pitching.

CHARLES HOFF'S DEBUT AS PRO

POLE VAULTER WILL TRY TO BREAK HIS RECORD AT MINNESOTA STATE FAIR

St. Paul, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Charles Hoff got out of bed today, cocked an anxious eye at clouded skies and got ready to make his debut as a professional athlete.

This afternoon the world's champion pole vaulter will make the first of six attempts to break his record at the Minnesota State Fair, with which he signed a contract in California last month.

The Norwegian arrived here yesterday, with special track equipment and what he said was a burning desire to set a new record as a professional.

CARDINALS MUFF CHANCE FOR 1ST PLACE

LOST YESTERDAY'S GAME TO SECOND PLACE CINCINNATI REDS

PITTSBURGH KICKED CHICAGO CUBS DEFINITELY OUT OF THE RACE

New York, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The National League pennant race was in a tight deadlock again today after the St. Louis Cardinals muffed a red hot chance to cement their position in first place.

By losing yesterday's game to the second place Cincinnati Reds, while Pittsburgh was kicking the Chicago Cubs definitely out of the contention, the Cardinals found their lead reduced to one game. The standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	78	55	.586
Cincinnati	75	54	.581
Pittsburgh	72	53	.576

St. Louis meets the Reds again today in Cincinnati and the Pirates play the Cubs. A victory by the Reds and Pirates would tighten the race still further into one of the most amazing league finishes in baseball history.

Carl Mays was master of the Cardinals in yesterday's game and the Reds were on their toes to take advantage of loose plays, such as Bell's wild throw that let in two runs. The Pirates again showed proof of their stamina when they took a 10 inning thriller from the Cubs by a typical batting rally in the 10th.

In the American League the Yankees' lead was cut to 5½ games again when New York divided with Philadelphia while the Cleveland Indians fell upon Detroit for a 9 to 1 victory, its eighth straight.

The Yankees, however, by stopping the Athletics in the second game, prevented what might have proved a serious setback for them. If they had dropped both games, Cleveland, which faces a comfortable stay on its home grounds, would have been conceded a fair chance to catch up. Now, however, if the Yanks hold their own in the remainder of the seven game series with Philadelphia, they will have weathered the storm and Cleveland will have to play superball to stop them.

GEORGES MICHAEL, FRENCHMAN, QUILTS CHANNEL ATTEMPT

Cape Gris Nez, France, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Georges Michael, a Frenchman, began an attempt to swim the English channel today at 5 p. m.

Cape Gris Nez, France, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Georges Michael, former French long distance champion swimmer, today abandoned an attempt to swim the English channel at 6:05 p. m. after one hour and five minutes in the water.

"DOC" BELKNAP, DAN PATCH TRAINER, DIES AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Sept. 4.—(UP)—"Doc" Belknap, who had a way with horses, is dead here. No one knew his first name, his age or much of his history, except that he trained "Dan Patch," the wonder horse, for many years, and later had charge of several noted stables. Belknap was kicked by a horse Friday, suffering internal injuries, from which he died.

BASEBALL SQUIBS

Christensen, utility outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, is a skilled acrobat.

Christy Mathewson once allowed the Phillies 14 hits in a game, but held them runless.

The only charter members remaining in the National league are the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves.

Burleigh Grimes of the Brooklyn team pitched a game against Boston without making an assist, putout or error.

"Buzz" Arlett, heavy hitter of the Oakland (Cal.) ball club, has been with the team nine years, but has never had a trial by a major team.

The four coolest cities in the National league—Boston, New York, Chicago and Brooklyn—have won thirty-seven pennants out of forty-four.

DUCK SEASON OPENS FOR STATE ON SEPT. 16

LICENSES NOW ON SALE AT COUNTY AUDITOR'S OFFICE

C. W. MAHLUM ISSUES LICENSES: RESIDENT LICENSE $1, NON-RESIDENT LICENSE $25

TO MEET DEMAND OFFICE WILL BE KEPT OPEN EVENINGS ON SEPT. 13, 14 AND 15

The open season for the hunting of wild ducks, goose, coot, Wilson snipe, gallinules, yellow legs this year commences on September 16, and closes on December 31.

Licenses issued by J. F. Gould, game commissioner of the state game and fish department can now be had at the office of the county auditor, C. W. Mahlum. Residents desiring to hunt are requested to take out their licenses as soon as possible, the license for residents of the state costing $1. Non-resident licenses are also on sale at the county auditor's office and may be had for $25. Mr. Mahlum stated today.

In order to accommodate those who will not be able to secure their hunting license during the regular working hours, Mr. Mahlum has consented to keep his office open evenings on September 13, 14 and 15. He has also appointed deputies for the sale of licenses at Pequot, Jenkins and all range towns.

The license provisions, according to the Minnesota game and fish laws follows:

"Resident small game license, $1, required of all persons over fourteen years of age (except of person shooting on land owned or leased and occupied by themselves as permanent residence). Resident large game license (no exception) $2.00. Resident trapping license, $1.00. Non-resident small game license, $25.00; large game, $50.00. Resident licenses obtainable of county auditors only, non-resident licenses from game and fish commissioner."

No provision is made for the issuing of licenses to youths under 14 years of age. Children under that age do not come within the law for hunting as they are not permitted to carry a gun.

Duck hunters of Brainerd are waiting anxiously for the season for ducks to open. Reports are that the duck season this year will be good.

SPECULATION ON WHO WILL BE REFEREE

BIG FIGHT DRAWS FANS TO THE SESQUI-CENTENNIAL STADIUM

O'BRIEN, McCRACKEN, REILLY, O'KEEFE AND OTHERS MENTIONED AS REFEREE

Philadelphia, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Speculation in boxing circles centered today around who will be the referee in the coming heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney in the Sesqui-Centennial stadium.

The candidates most frequently mentioned and best known to fans include Frank "Pop" O'Brien, Frank McCracken, Tommy Reilly, Jack O'Keefe, Lew Crinson, "Spud" Murphy and Frank Lloyd. All are seasoned veterans and well versed in the Pennsylvania boxing laws. The selection will be made known the day of the fight.

Ticket sales in the Philadelphia fight headquarters amounted to $81,200 Friday, bringing the total sold here well over $850,000, it was announced. This does not include the sale of tickets in New York, which should bring the figure well over the million mark.

Approximately $1,000,000 has been received by betting commissioners to place on Dempsey. The odds run between 8 to 5 and 2 to 1.

GREB THINKS TUNNEY STANDS GOOD CHANCE

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 4.—Two expert observers have an unfavorable impression of Jack Dempsey today. Gene Tunney has an excellent chance of winning the heavyweight boxing crown when he meets Dempsey, September 23, in the opinion of Harry Greb, former middleweight titleholder, while Jimmy De Forest, veteran trainer, believes the champion is not snappy enough.

After witnessing Dempsey's work-outs here yesterday, Greb said Dempsey impressed him as being "all dried out."
"Dempsey is not showing up to his previous good form," Greb said. "He is missing too much and he is being hit too often by sparring partners, who are not particularly brilliant."

De Forest, who conditioned Dempsey for his fight with Jess Willard, said:
"His condition looks all right, but he is not stepping around as lively as he did in Toledo. He's not snappy enough in his work to suit me."

TUNNEY IN WORKOUT WITH SPARRING PARTNERS

Brook Country Club, Stroudsburg, Pa., Sept. 4.—For the first time since establishing his training quarters here, Gen Tunney was to work out with his sparring partners today. A large crowd of spectators from among the persons here for the weekend was expected.
"I am going along easy," Tunney said. "I am in condition to enter the ring with Dempsey today, so I am not going to take any chances of over training."

"I shall box only three days a week, but not nine rounds a day. Then I'll take it easy the rest of the time, hiking over the mountains and playing a little golf."

"That will keep me razor fine, just as I want to be when I get in there and win that title."

JACK DEMPSEY VS. JACK KEARNS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 4.—Jack Kearns, former manager of Jack Dempsey, had some sympathizers when he charged the heavyweight champion with an act of ingratitude in cutting away from him after he had spent eight years in directing him into a title and a fortune of a million dollars.

There were two sides, of course, and it never can be proved whether Kearns made Dempsey or Dempsey made Kearns and the final analysis would be that each did well financially by the other.

Kearns probably had more friends than Dempsey in their own set and when Dempsey decided to cut away from him he was panned by the boys in the street who figured that the first rule is to stick by a fellow who stuck with you.

Those with no opinion one way or the other and those not interested enough to have an opinion have turned against Kearns, however, for his actions since Dempsey signed a contract with Tex Rickard to fight Gene Tunney, a contract which Dempsey insists will have no end for Kearns.

Kearns slapped a suit on Dempsey for $333,333 just after he started training and when he was being pestered with a dozen other legal actions and a controversy with the New York boxing commission. Kearns apparently was advised by counsel that he had a case against Dempsey by reason of an agreement that was signed by Kearns with Rickard before their contract expired.

But the means Kearns took in further pestering Dempsey can get him no sympathy. Process servers for his action stopped Mrs. Dempsey in her car on the road near White Sulphur Springs, took the car away from her on an attachment and left her to get back to her cottage as best she could.

Then all the equipment at the training camp was attached, a deposit of $9,000 in a New York bank was attached and one of Kearns' agents said: "We'll take everything away from him that he's got—even his clothes."

All through this trouble and his other legal difficulties Dempsey has been conducting himself like a good scout. He may have some faults (who hasn't) but he certainly cannot be accused of vindictiveness, malice or meanness.

He is of a nervous temperament and it is not well for a fighter to have anything on his mind but fight in the weeks immediately preceding the defense of a heavyweight championship.

But all this trouble and annoyance may have the opposite effect on Dempsey. So far it has done nothing but make him mad and Tunney may turn out to be the goat of Kearns, McKelrick & Company.

Dempsey, as has been pointed out time after time in this column, has been treated unfairly and if there had been any spite in him he could have given the public his side of the story but he preferred to take the blame rather than take any steps that might hurt the game.

It sounds silly to hear some fighters talk about saving the game of boxing because they love it as a sport. Dempsey does not talk about his love of the sport—perhaps he has a distaste for it now—but he does talk about boxing as his business and no man wants to hurt his own business.

If Kearns had been as careful to protect the business of boxing—not the fair name of the game—he and Dempsey might never have reached the end of their ways and since the parting was reached it is not good taste for him to be acting the part of a child.

RAINS CAUSE CITY SERIES TO BE POSTPONED

N. E. AND Y. M. C. A. PLAN TO BATTLE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

INTEREST RUNS HIGH, MANY PLANNING TO ATTEND OPENER

The "little world series" will be played starting Wednesday, Sept. 8, providing weather conditions are favorable. The rain which started Thursday afternoon and continued almost without ceasing through Friday, has flooded the playing field, both infield and outfield. Several days of dry, warm weather are needed to put them in shape.

The postponement of the games has increased interest to no small degree. Both N. E. and the Y. M. C. A. are biding their time with confidence. Neither team is over-confident, realizing that in their opponents they both will find worthy foes.

Many Brainerd people are attending the state fair over this week-end, returning on Tuesday, so the managers have planned to have the first game on Wednesday, giving everyone a chance to see the game.

The line-ups of both teams are standing pat, with Van Walk and Engbretson slated to do the pitching.

CHARLES HOFF'S DEBUT AS PRO

POLE VAULTER WILL TRY TO BREAK HIS RECORD AT MINNESOTA STATE FAIR

St. Paul, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Charles Hoff got out of bed today, cocked an anxious eye at clouded skies and got ready to make his debut as a professional athlete.

This afternoon the world's champion pole vaulter will make the first of six attempts to break his record at the Minnesota State Fair, with which he signed a contract in California last month.

The Norwegian arrived here yesterday, with special track equipment and what he said was a burning desire to hang up a new record as a professional.

CARDINALS MUFF CHANCE FOR 1ST PLACE

LOST YESTERDAY'S GAME TO SECOND PLACE CINCINNATI REDS

PITTSBURGH KICKED CHICAGO CUBS DEFINITELY OUT OF THE RACE

New York, Sept. 4.—(UP)—The National League pennant race was in a tight deadlock again today after the St. Louis Cardinals muffed a red hot chance to cement their position in first place.

By losing yesterday's game to the second place Cincinnati Reds, while Pittsburgh was kicking the Chicago Cubs definitely out of the contention, the Cardinals found their lead reduced to one game. The standing:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
St. Louis	78	55	.586
Cincinnati	75	54	.581
Pittsburgh	72	53	.576

St. Louis meets the Reds again today in Cincinnati and the Pirates play the Cubs. A victory by the Reds and Pirates would tighten the race still further into one of the most amazing league finishes in baseball history.

Carl Mays was master of the Cardinals in yesterday's game and the Reds were on their toes to take advantage of loose plays, such as Bell's wild throw that let in two runs. The Pirates again showed proof of their stamina when they took a 10 inning thriller from the Cubs by a typical batting rally in the 10th.

In the American League the Yankees' lead was cut to 5½ games again when New York divided with Philadelphia while the Cleveland Indians fell upon Detroit for a 9 to 1 victory, its eighth straight.

The Yankees, however, by stopping the Athletics in the second game, prevented what might have proved a serious setback for them. If they had dropped both games, Cleveland, which faces a comfortable stay on its home grounds, would have been conceded a fair chance to catch up. Now, however, if the Yanks hold their own in the remainder of the seven game series with Philadelphia, they will have weathered the storm and Cleveland will have to play superbball to stop them.

GEORGES MICHAEL, FRENCHMAN, QUITS CHANNEL ATTEMPT

Cape Gris Nez, France, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Georges Michael, a Frenchman, began an attempt to swim the English channel today at 5 p. m.

Cape Gris Nez, France, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Georges Michael, former French long distance champion swimmer, today abandoned an attempt to swim the English channel at 6:05 p. m. after one hour and five minutes in the water.

"DOC" BELKNAP, DAN PATCH TRAINER, DIES AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Sept. 4.—(UP)—"Doc" Belknap, who had a way with horses, is dead here. No one knew his first name, his age or much of his history, except that he trained "Dan Patch," the wonder horse, for many years, and later had charge of several noted stables. Belknap was kicked by a horse Friday, suffering internal injuries, from which he died.

BASEBALL SQUIBS

Christensen, utility outfielder of the Cincinnati Reds, is a skilled acrobat.

Christy Mathewson once allowed the Phillies 14 hits in a game, but held them runless.

The only charter members remaining in the National league are the Chicago Cubs and the Boston Braves.

Burleigh Grimes of the Brooklyn team pitched a game against Boston without making an assist, putout or error.

"Buzz" Arlett, heavy hitter of the Oakland (Cal.) ball club, has been with the team nine years, but has never had a trial by a major team.

The four coolest cities in the National league—Boston, New York, Chicago and Brooklyn—have won thirty-seven pennants out of forty-four.

GERMANS SHOW NO ILL FEELING

Republic is Contented and Happy,
Say Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Drieling
Who Visited There

PARKS REVEL IN MUSIC

Fashions Resemble Those of America,
But Fewer Bobbed Heads
Are Seen

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Drieling and three children of 611 Second Ave. N. E. arrived home Monday night from a three month's visit to Germany. The object of the trip was to see Mr. Drieling's parents, his mother being quite ill at the family home just outside Delmenhorst.

On their arrival they were greeted at the dock by many relatives who showered them with flowers and the children with gifts of toys and candy. The home was filled with beautiful bouquets of flowers sent by friends with cards attached, bidding them welcome. Mrs. Drieling said it reminded her of a large birthday party in America. The yard was full of children who had come to see the little Americans but they could not understand each other at first but in a very short time they were playing nicely as the Drieling children soon learned to talk a little German and the German children learned to talk English just as readily.

"Although we are American citizens we were treated like a king and queen. The Germans hold no ill feeling against America nor any other country; they are contented and happy to know the war is over, while the French feel differently and treat some of the American tourists roughly," said Mr. Drieling.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Drieling said they had never heard so much music before as on their visit and as his parents live near a park they saw a great deal of athletic sports. There was music and dancing in the parks or gardens practically all of the time, the steps not varying in the least from those used here, but the music as yet hasn't reached our present jazz stage.

The fashion in dress is about the same as here with the exception of fewer bobbed heads and the skirts are not quite as short," said Mrs. Drieling.

The city where they visited has a population of 28,000 and the housing condition has been quite a problem since the war as many couples were married shortly before and after the conflict necessitating the government to take the situation in hand and it now controls the rent charged the tenants. This is true all over Germany, in Delmenhorst and other cities they are building modern houses, Spanish style architecture and the people pay for them as they would a rented home. All houses are made of stone or cement and the streets and sidewalks are made of stone.

All persons that are employed pay assessments for the old, invalided and unemployed people. Germany has always had the old aged and invalid pension system but since the war it has also added the pension for the unemployed.

The writer asked them "Do you see many young men or were they all killed in the war?" and the reply was, "just as many as here."

There are not many pleasure cars as the taxes are so high that but few can afford them. Many bicycles are in use and in some instances whole families possess them and on Sundays one can see them start out on a pleasure trip with their children and their bicycles which consequently range in all sizes.

The German people raise gardens the same as here with practically the same vegetables. They also raise plums, cherries, pears and apples. The cost of food stuffs is a little higher, coffee being $1 a pound, while strange to say, clothing is a trifle cheaper.

The schools formerly taught French in the lower grades but since the war English is taught to about the eleventh year while French is taught later on.

Very few cripples are in evidence but there are a great many in England.

The Drieling's made the trip both ways via the North or St. Lawrence route. They left Delmenhorst Aug. 17 and went from there to Hamburg, then to Rotterdam in Holland and then to Hook Van, Holland where they took the steamer to England. While in Holland they saw many walking in wooden shoes while at work and others on bicycles still wearing their wooden shoes. The shoes presented a queer appearance but at the stations leather slippers were again the vogue. The Drieling family considers Holland to be one of the neatest and cleanest countries that they have ever seen.

At Hornick, England they changed from the boat to the train for London where they spent a day and went through Westminster Abbey and also attended services in the Royal chapel where they heard a boy's choir which was very beautiful and impressive. From London they took the train to Liverpool where they embarked on the tourist steamer "Mont Clare" of the Canadian Pacific line. They stopped at Quebec a short time, going up the St. Lawrence river with its wonderful scenery to Montreal where they took the train for St. Paul.

The Drieling's are very enthusiastic over their trip but said if they hadn't had relatives they wished to see in Germany they would just as soon have made an extended journey in the United States as they are positive that there are as many interesting places here.

BOTH ARE RECOVERING

The Son, Felix Taken Off the Train
at Little Falls for Operation

While E. Mason, station master of Deerwood, is convalescing from an appendicitis operation in the St. Joseph's hospital here, his son Felix is also in the hospital at Little Falls, also recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

The circumstances in both cases are similar. The father was to be taken to St. Paul last week for the operation but it was necessary to remove him from the train at Brainerd as an immediate operation was necessary, the appendix having become ruptured.

Tuesday evening, the son was likewise stricken with appendicitis and he was started on his way on the train to St. Paul. It was found necessary to remove him at Little Falls as his appendix had ruptured. Both are reported on the road to recovery.

day Evening

OWNED BY EMIL ENGLUND

Oklahoma Tourist Car Burned Out
Clutch on Highway
No. 27

Whether the party followed the instructions on the door "Pray As You Enter" or not, providence was good to them when a car struck the collegiate Ford owned by Emil Englund Thursday night at the corner of Pine and 7th streets.

In spite of the fact that the front of the car was banged in somewhat, there were no injuries.

The car of Mr. Reholt, of Oklamogee Okla., was towed into Brainerd in the rain Thursday night when it was put out of commission when it burned out the clutch on Highway No. 27 about 12 miles from Brainerd. The tourists were returning from their summer home at Gull Lake. Both cars are being repaired by the Lively Auto Co.

HAYDON LOCATES IN CALIFORNIA

Brainerd Ice Cream Manufacturer
Opens New Plant at Inglewood

MAY BUILD SIX STORES

Initial Cost of Equipment of New Plant to Total
$20,000

W. E. Haydon, Brainerd ice cream manufacturer, has opened an ice cream manufacturing plant at Inglewood, California, according to a news item appearing in the Inglewood Daily News California, on Aug. 27, received from Mrs. Lillian E. Canfield, who reports that John L. Canfield will assist in the installation of the plant and later employed as ice cream maker. Mrs. Canfield will also be employed in the plant.

Mr. Haydon has had 20 years experience in the ice cream business. He signed a five year lease for space for his new plant at Inglewood.

Mr. Haydon will begin at once to equip the plant, expecting to start operating within 30 days. It will be the only plant of its kind in the west, he says. The initial outlay for factory equipment will total approximately $20,000.

Not only will Inglewood obtain the factory but Mr. Haydon says he will open six or eight stores at other points in the southwest in that district and says that that city will be the ice cream supply headquarters for each of the distributing houses.

LOTS OF GOOD POSITIONS OPEN

You don't hear graduates of Dakota Business College, Fargo, complain that they "can't find a job," because leading northwestern firms call on this school continuously for help. ## GERMANS SHOW NO ILL FEELING

Republic is Contented and Happy,
Say Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Drieling
Who Visited There

PARKS REVEL IN MUSIC

Fashions Resemble Those of America,
But Fewer Bobbed Heads
Are Seen

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Drieling and three children of 611 Second Ave. N. E. arrived home Monday night from a three month's visit to Germany. The object of the trip was to see Mr. Drieling's parents, his mother being quite ill at the family home just outside Delmenhorst.

On their arrival they were greeted at the dock by many relatives who showered them with flowers and the children with gifts of toys and candy. The home was filled with beautiful bouquets of flowers sent by friends with cards attached, bidding them welcome. Mrs. Drieling said it reminded her of a large birthday party in America. The yard was full of children who had come to see the little Americans but they could not understand each other at first but in a very short time they were playing nicely as the Drieling children soon learned to talk a little German and the German children learned to talk English just as readily.

"Although we are American citizens we were treated like a king and queen. The Germans hold no ill feeling against America nor any other country; they are contented and happy to know the war is over, while the French feel differently and treat some of the American tourists roughly," said Mr. Drieling.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Drieling said they had never heard so much music before as on their visit and as his parents live near a park they saw a great deal of athletic sports. There was music and dancing in the parks or gardens practically all of the time, the steps not varying in the least from those used here, but the music as yet hasn't reached our present jazz stage.

The fashion in dress is about the same as here with the exception of fewer bobbed heads and the skirts are not quite as short," said Mrs. Drieling.

"The city where they visited has a population of 28,000 and the housing condition has been quite a problem since the war as many couples were married shortly before and after the conflict necessitating the government to take the situation in hand and it now controls the rent charged the tenants. This is true all over Germany, in Delmenhorst and other cities they are building modern houses, Spanish style architecture and the people pay for them as they would a rented home. All houses are made of stone or cement and the streets and sidewalks are made of stone.

All persons that are employed pay assessments for the old, invalided and unemployed people. Germany has always had the old aged and invalid pension system but since the war it has also added the pension for the unemployed.

The writer asked them "Do you see many young men or were they all killed in the war?" and the reply was, "just as many as here."

There are not many pleasure cars as the taxes are so high that but few can afford them. Many bicycles are in use and in some instances whole families possess them and on Sundays one can see them start out on a pleasure trip with their children and their bicycles which consequently range in all sizes.

The German people raise gardens the same as here with practically the same vegetables. They also raise plums, cherries, pears and apples. The cost of food stuffs is a little higher, coffee being $1 a pound, while strange to say, clothing is a trifle cheaper.

The schools formerly taught French in the lower grades but since the war English is taught to about the eleventh year while French is taught later on.

Very few cripples are in evidence but there are a great many in England.

The Drieling's made the trip both ways via the North or St. Lawrence route. They left Delmenhorst Aug. 17 and went from there to Hamburg, then to Rotterdam in Holland and then to Hook Van, Holland where they took the steamer to England. While in Holland they saw many walking in wooden shoes while at work and others on bicycles still wearing their wooden shoes. The shoes presented a queer appearance but at the stations leather slippers were again the vogue. The Drieling family considers Holland to be one of the neatest and cleanest countries that they have ever seen.

At Hornick, England they changed from the boat to the train for London where they spent a day and went through Westminster Abbey and also attended services in the Royal chapel where they heard a boy's choir which was very beautiful and impressive. From London they took the train to Liverpool where they embarked on the tourist steamer "Mont Clare" of the Canadian Pacific line. They stopped at Quebec a short time, going up the St. Lawrence river with its wonderful scenery to Montreal where they took the train for St. Paul.

The Drieling's are very enthusiastic over their trip but said if they hadn't had relatives they wished to see in Germany they would just as soon have made an extended journey in the United States as they are positive that there are as many interesting places here.

BOTH ARE RECOVERING

The Son, Felix Taken Off the Train
at Little Falls for Operation

While E. Mason, station master of Deerwood, is convalescing from an appendicitis operation in the St. Joseph's hospital here, his son Felix is also in the hospital at Little Falls, also recovering from an operation for appendicitis.

The circumstances in both cases are similar. The father was to be taken to St. Paul last week for the operation but it was necessary to remove him from the train at Brainerd as an immediate operation was necessary, the appendix having become ruptured.

Tuesday evening, the son was likewise stricken with appendicitis and he was started on his way on the train to St. Paul. It was found necessary to remove him at Little Falls as his appendix had ruptured. Both are reported on the road to recovery.

WOMAN DOCTOR FAILS IN HER CHANNEL SWIM

MISS MONA MACLENNAN ABANDONS SWIM ACCOUNT OF ROUGH SEAS

HAD BEEN IN WATER 11½ HOURS AND GAVE UP AT 4:40 P. M.

London, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Miss Mona MacLennan, woman doctor, describing herself as a medical specialist, has failed in her plucky attempt to put England on record as having one of its daughters conquer the channel this year.

Miss MacLennan, arriving at Folkestone near midnight, told the United Press that she had abandoned the swim seven or eight miles off South Foreland, owing to rough seas, strong tides and dense fog.

She had been in the water 11½ hours, about two hours longer than Horace Carey, who had started the swim with her. She gave up at 4:40 P. M.

United Press dispatches from Cape Gris Nez had told of how a middle-aged Englishwoman had begun the mysterious attempt. The woman had tried several times to start secretly and stopped the swim each time she was discovered. In her effort to start in secret she slept on the beach all night and started her swim yesterday at dawn. The motor boat which was to accompany her lay far off shore during the night.

When the trip started she was accompanied only by Carey and a soldier, who said he knew neither personally, but had been asked to go on the trip.

Miss MacLennan, on landing, told the United Press:

"There is no mystery. I only wanted to avoid getting in wrong with the British Medical Association as I am a Harley Street specialist."

REDS BATTLE THE CARDINALS

PETE DONOHUE SLATED TO PITCH FOR THE CINCINNATI TEAM

Cincinnati, Sept. 4.—(UP)—An opportunity to take first place in the National League pennant race found the Cincinnati Reds on their toes for their game today with the Cardinals at Redland Field. Should the Reds win they will hold the parade even should the Pirates win both games of a double-header at Chicago.

A victory for the Reds Saturday and two for the Pirates would drop the Cardinals to third place.

Pete Donohue was Manager Jack Hendrick's selection to pitch for the Reds. Sherdel was slated to oppose him.

The Cardinals went scoreless in the first but the Reds got four runs aided by an excusable error. Hornsby, running backward for Zitzman's pop fly, tripped and fell heavily on his head. Zitzman reaching second. First aid treatment was required to keep the Cardinal manager in the game. A single by Rousch, Dresden's single, a sacrifice, a double and a single drove four in and H. Bell replaced Sherdel to retire the side.

JOE BUSH VERSUS GUY BUSH TODAY

CHICAGO STARTED SCORING IN THE SECOND INNING OF GAME

Chicago, Sept. 4.—The Chicago Cubs added a further setback to the pennant hopes of the Pittsburgh Pirates by winning the first game of a double-header here today, 11 to 2. Timely hitting by the Cubs coupled with several errors by the Buccaneers gave the Cubs the victory.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Cloudy skies and cool weather aided in cutting down the crowd which gathered today to witness the first game of a double-header between Pittsburgh and Chicago.

There was a definite threat of rain. Joe Bush, veteran moundsman, was the pitching selection of Manager McKechnie, while Guy Bush went to the mound for Chicago.

Chicago started the scoring in the second inning. Cooney dropped a Texas leaguer into center field and scored on Hartnett's long double to left.

Bush's Single Puts Pirates in Lead. The Pirates tied the score in the third when Waner got an infield hit and went to third on Cuyler's hit over Cooney and scored on an infield play.

Pittsburgh went into the lead in the fourth when Mueller singled, went to second on Cronin's sacrifice, took third on Pipp's infield out and scored on Bush's single.

Adams opened with a single in the last of the fifth inning. Heathcote bunted but Smith tossed wild, Adams going to third and Heathcote going to second. Kelly singled, scoring Adams. Waner attempted to catch Adams at the plate and threw wild. Heathcote scoring.

Hack Wilson then hit over the right field fence for his 20th home run of the season, scoring Kelly ahead of him. After Wilson's home run the game was delayed temporarily as fans tossed straw hats and paper into the playing field.

After two were out in the Cubs' half of the sixth inning, Kelly doubled to left and scored on Wilson's single.

Pittsburgh sent in a complete new battery in the 7th. Songer going to the mound and Gooch behind the plate.

The Cubs added five more runs in the eighth inning. Bush was safe on Wright's error and went to third on Adam's single. Heathcote singled, scoring Bush. Kelly sacrificed. Wilson was purposely passed. Grimes doubled, scoring Adams and Heathcote. Mahafey went in for the Pirates, and Beck, first man up, singled, scoring Wilson and Grimes.

WOMAN DOCTOR FAILS IN HER CHANNEL SWIM

MISS MONA MACLENNAN ABANDONS SWIM ACCOUNT OF ROUGH SEAS

HAD BEEN IN WATER 11½ HOURS AND GAVE UP AT 4:40 P. M.

London, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Miss Mona MacLennan, woman doctor, describing herself as a medical specialist, has failed in her plucky attempt to put England on record as having one of its daughters conquer the channel this year.

Miss MacLennan, arriving at Folkestone near midnight, told the United Press that she had abandoned the swim seven or eight miles off South Foreland, owing to rough seas, strong tides and dense fog.

She had been in the water 11½ hours, about two hours longer than Horace Carey, who had started the swim with her. She gave up at 4:40 P. M.

United Press dispatches from Cape Gris Nez had told of how a middle-aged Englishwoman had begun the mysterious attempt. The woman had tried several times to start secretly and stopped the swim each time she was discovered. In her effort to start in secret she swam to the beach all night and started her swim yesterday at dawn. The motor boat which was to accompany her lay far off shore during the night.

When the trip started she was accompanied only by Carey and a soldier, who said he knew neither personally, but had been asked to go on the trip.

Miss MacLennan, on landing, told the United Press:

"There is no mystery. I only wanted to avoid getting in wrong with the British Medical Association as I am a Harley Street specialist."

REDS BATTLE THE CARDINALS

PETE DONOHUE SLATED TO PITCH FOR THE CINCINNATI TEAM

Cincinnati, Sept. 4.—(UP)—An opportunity to take first place in the National League pennant race found the Cincinnati Reds on their toes for their game today with the Cardinals at Redland Field. Should the Reds win they will hold the parade even should the Pirates win both games of a double-header at Chicago.

A victory for the Reds Saturday and two for the Pirates would drop the Cardinals to third place.

Pete Donohue was Manager Jack Hendrick's selection to pitch for the Reds. Sherdel was slated to oppose him.

The Cardinals went scoreless in the first but the Reds got four runs aided by an excusable error. Hornsby, running backward for Zitzman's pop fly, tripped and fell heavily on his head, Zitzman reaching second. First aid treatment was required to keep the Cardinal manager in the game. A single by Rousch, Drensen's single, a sacrifice, a double and a single drove four in and H. Bell replaced Sherdel to retire the side.

JOE BUSH VERSUS GUY BUSH TODAY

CHICAGO STARTED SCORING IN THE SECOND INNING OF GAME

Chicago, Sept. 4.—The Chicago Cubs added a further setback to the pennant hopes of the Pittsburgh Pirates by winning the first game of a double-header here today, 11 to 2. Timely hitting by the Cubs coupled with several errors by the Buccaneers gave the Cubs the victory.

Chicago, Sept. 4.—(UP)—Cloudy skies and cool weather aided in cutting down the crowd which gathered today to witness the first game of a double-header between Pittsburgh and Chicago.

There was a definite threat of rain. Joe Bush, veteran moundsman, was the pitching selection of Manager McKechnie, while Guy Bush went to the mound for Chicago.

Chicago started the scoring in the second inning. Cooney dropped a Texas leaguer into center field and scored on Hartnett's long double to left.

Bush's Single Puts Pirates in Lead
The Pirates tied the score in the third when Waner got an infield hit and went to third on Cuyler's hit over Cooney and scored on an infield play.

Pittsburgh went into the lead in the fourth when Mueller singled, went to second on Cronin's sacrifice, took third on Pipp's infield out and scored on Bush's single.

Adams opened with a single in the last of the fifth inning. Heathcote bunted but Smith tossed wild. Adams going to third and Heathcote going to second. Kelly singled, scoring Adams. Waner attempted to catch Adams at the plate and threw wild. Heathcote scoring.

Hack Wilson then hit over the right field fence for his 20th home run of the season, scoring Kelly ahead of him. After Wilson's home run the game was delayed temporarily as fans tossed straw hats and paper into the playing field.

After two were out in the Cubs' half of the sixth inning, Kelly doubled to left and scored on Wilson's single.

Pittsburgh sent in a complete new battery in the 7th. Songer going to the mound and Gooch behind the plate.

The Cubs added five more runs in the eighth inning. Bush was safe on Wright's error and went to third on Adams' single. Heathcote singled, scoring Bush. Kelly sacrificed. Wilson was purposely passed. Grimes doubled, scoring Adams and Heathcote. Mahafey went in for the Pirates, and Beck, first man up, singled, scoring Wilson and Grimes.

CITATION FOR HEARING ON PETITION FOR PROBATE OF WILL

No. 2941
State of Minnesota, County of Crow Wing, ss., in Probate Court.
In the Matter of the Estate of Anton C. Nelson, also known as Anton Nelson, Decedent.
The State of Minnesota to all persons interested in the allowance and probate of the will of said decedent: The petition of Henry W. Bentley being duly filed in this Court, representing that Anton C. Nelson, then a resident of the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, died on the 22nd day of July, 1926, leaving a last will and testament which is presented to this Court with said petition, and praying that said instrument be allowed as the last will and testament of said decedent, and that letters of administration with will annexed be issued thereon to D. C. Henderson. NOW, THEREFORE, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this Court, at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in Brainerd, in the County of Crow Wing, State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of September, 1926, at two o'clock P. M., why the prayer of said petition should not be granted.
WITNESS THE HONORABLE L. B. KINDER, Judge of said Court, and the Seal of said Court, this 3rd day of September, 1926.
(Probate Court Seal) L. B. KINDER, Judge. WIELAND & SULLIVAN, Attorneys for Petitioner. 8013S
